FRENCH IN NEW VERDUN SMASH

MANY CHARGES OF ARMY 'PULL' AROUSE BAKER

State Officer Asserts Men Fear Loss of Promotion.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Charges that "pull"—political, social, and personal—has been, and still is, efficacious in earning commissions for officers, promotions, and assignments to "soft snags," far from the nation's boom, have been growing more persistent of late.

Secretary of War Baker has instituted investigations of the more serious accusations of favoritism, and indignantly has decided that the suspensions were unfounded.

Probably the most impressive complaint of this character was presented by State Representative William French, chairman of the committee on military affairs of the Massachusetts house of representatives, who, in a letter to Mr. Baker, cited specific instances of the alleged operation of "pull" instead of merit in the selective process of the army.

Letter Sent by French.
State representative French's letter to the secretary of war under date of Nov. 13 follows:

"I am appealing to you as one who, as acting chairman of the committee on military affairs in the Massachusetts house of representatives this year, had practical charge of all military legislation, and who the coming year will have full charge because certain doubts have been thrust into my mind and because I know that there exists to-day in the minds of some members of our national army the fear that the young man of ability but without riches and influence, will not find his place."

"Alleged cases of the advancement of some men over others of equal or greater ability have been quoted to me and I have frequently been told that special training in life before the war is not counting against 'the right kind of pull.'"

Cites Three Cases.
"There are three cases of young men I proved fitness that have particularly impressed me, all of them boys today in the ranks, and each feels that all his years of study and experience is likely to go for no more than the strength of the man who is able to buy a rifle and take no greater place."

"Each is an American boy, full of spirit and patriotism, yet a desire to do the largest and biggest work possible seems to inspire each. One is the executive officer of a chamber of commerce of 1,200 members and admitted one of the best organizers and most capable young men in this part of the state."

"Another stands high in this community as a specialist in aural surgery, while the third is an expert metallurgist and chemist, a scholarship man, and noted athlete."

Others Gain Promotion.
"Yet all three saw recently a young lieutenant taken from the ranks of drafted men and given a lieutenant's commission; a young machinist taken from a small navy factory and similarly commissioned; and the son of a rich shoe manufacturer, without practical making experience, given some kind of an inspector of shoes making."

"The young chamber of commerce executive took the quartermaster's course at Dartmouth, but just as it was closing was called into the draft. Because he was the work horse for his chamber was the first loan drive and the Red Cross campaign were on and stuck to his post to make both a signal success in this district he lost all opportunity he might otherwise have had to secure a commission."

Learned Others Profited.
"His efforts and those of his friends have been unavailing, yet within a few days a member of congress from another district told him that he had been given a commission and that he was to be sent to France."

"Will you not, in the interest of a military unit that knows no dissension, give me a statement that will meet the fears of these boys to whom I have referred, and one that I may read in the house if I am ever called upon to do so?"

Reply Made by Baker.
Under date of Nov. 21 Secretary Baker sent the following reply:

"My Dear Mr. French: I have read your letter of Nov. 13. I have re-

PASTOR VOIGHT OVERTOP FOR U.S.; FLOCK IS CHILLY.

Hanover Church Hears Sermon Inspired by Clyne.

Hanover township sat in the pews of the Hoosier's Grove German Evangelical Lutheran church yesterday and kept their hands in their pockets while the Rev. Adolph Voight went over the top for the U. S. A.

Mr. Voight was fresh from an interview with District Attorney Clyne and Mr. Clyne had taken the reverend gentleman upon the mountain and showed him what a goshalmighty job the Kaiser is up against. He assured Mr. Voight that a couple of million young Americans are whetting their snicker-sneers and that they have quit kidding and that they are peevish about something and that if the Rev. Mr. Voight wished to know what they are peevish about he need only make a few more anti-American cracks and he would shortly discover.

Further Suggestions.
Mr. Clyne suggested that Mr. Voight's Hanoverians might readily set themselves right by adhering to the old American slogan of "Kick In." When Mr. Voight finished viewing the United States through Mr. Clyne's benign spectacles he stuck out his chest and went looking for the Kaiser.

Mr. Clyne remarked mildly that it is considered poor form for the parishioners in Hanover township to ignore the Red Cross, the Liberty bonds, and the Y. M. C. A. And he patted the reverend gentleman on the back and told him he might lose his pulpit if he cut loose with the real, old Davy Crockett brand of patriotism; but if he did lose his job "come around and I'll get you another."

No Contributions Made.
There is just a chance Mr. Clyne will have to make good on getting another church for Mr. Voight, for when that preacher got under way in his pulpit yesterday it was readily discernible that Hanover church goes have one way pockets—they are for deposits, not withdrawals.

Interest seemed to have spread through the German community for the little white church was filled. They came to see if the pastor was going to stub his toe on his way over the top. But when they discovered that his footwork was nimble and his purpose a healthy Americanism, they seemed about as joyful as one who parades of a quince.

The Sermon.
"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's," quoted Mr. Voight, and he permitted no idle inference that he recognizes the Germanic corruption of "Caesar" into "Kaiser" and that there is relationship between Kaiser and God.

"You, in failing to subscribe for Liberty bonds, in neglecting to aid the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., have not acted as Christians," he said. It didn't take. The room was warm but the parishioners were cold. "I cannot understand why a single person in Hanover township has failed to aid these things. But I have learned that bonds may be had on small payments and I shall expect you immediately to partake. We must remove the blot from Hanover township."

Soldiers Appointed.
Then he prayed for divine guidance in behalf of his members and followed this by appointing August Bierman, August Volkering, and Fred C. Hecht members of a committee to solicit funds for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Voight also will serve on the committee and report to Mr. Clyne the progress made.

When the sermon was concluded there was a general movement for hats and overcoats. Men who have not been able to do their share with the help for years negotiated them with the utmost zeal and were almost through the door when the preacher called: "Stop!"

They paused, though many of them felt they had important errands needing of immediate accomplishment. Mr. Voight mentioned that a business session would now take place and war relief measures be adopted. He recalled with joy that Messrs. Bierman, Volkering, and Hecht are possessors of automobiles, and therefore in position to do many things for their country.

Soldier's Version.
Lieut. William H. Drolle of Chicago, who was visiting relatives in the neighborhood, dropped in on the services. He made some inquiries and said he found there are two factions.

"One faction is loyal and the other not so much," he said. "Both came here somewhat skeptical about Mr. Voight. The anti's object to his new stand and the others think he went over the top too suddenly."

But, anyhow, he went over and gave 'em hell!

BORDEN HISSIED; EGGS HURLED BY CANADA MOB

Hoot Down Premier at Kitchener After Storming Rink.

Kitchener, Ont., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Hooting and hissing and cheering for the opposition leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, 5,000 persons, some of them armed, howled down Sir Robert Borden, prime minister of Canada, when he appeared here to set forth in a federal election campaign the cause of union government and compulsory military service.

Five hundred men, organized under leaders, stormed the rink in which the meeting was held and carried to the platform banners bearing admonitions to vote for Laurier and the preservation of "democratic government in Canada" and for W. L. Buley, the Laurier Liberal candidate.

Borden Arrives Late.
Sir Robert Borden arrived late for the meeting and was greeted with menacing shouts and jeers, as he attempted to address the throng. He called out: "Gentlemen, I have something to say to you." With one voice the mob yelled back: "We don't want to hear it!"

The premier was compelled to abandon the attempt, the refusal of the crowd to receive his arguments marking the first case in Canadian political history in which a dominion prime minister has been refused an audience by his people.

While the outburst was at its height a police sergeant on guard duty near the platform, attracted by the suspicious conduct of a German, who mounted to a gallery above and within a few feet of the premier, pounced upon the man and rushed him to headquarters under heavy guard. He was found to be armed with a pistol fully loaded, and, according to official intimations, will be charged with attempting Sir Robert's life.

Throw Eggs at Liberal.
Missiles were hurled at the platform, a shower of beans and eggs being directed at A. M. Mowat, Toronto Liberal, who has gone over to the coalition government.

Kitchener, though a German Canadian center, has been regarded as the loyal, and after the outbreak of the war dropped its German name, Berlin, for its present British designation.

Calls Them "Hoodlums."
Toronto, Ontario, Nov. 25.—Sir Robert Borden attributes to a concerted movement of "roughs and hoodlums" the disturbance at Kitchener on Saturday when a part of the audience assembled for his campaign meeting refused to permit either the premier or P. M. Mowat, K. C., Unionist candidate for Parkdale, to speak.

THE WAR

In an attack in the Verdun region the French troops captured first and second German lines of defense, including deep dugouts, and also took 800 Germans prisoner.

London reports that British troops on the Cambrai front have captured Bourlon village and virtually the whole of Bourlon wood.

Berlin says German guard troops launched a counter attack against the British troops who had pushed forward as far as Bourlon village and after desperate bayonet fighting drove them back to their former positions. It also claims the repulse of four attacks on the village of Inchy, west of Bourlon.

Battle slows up on Italian front; wipe out Piave crossing party.

Peril seen in the probable release of a million German prisoners in the event of a German-Russian armistice.

at 3 p. m. or a little later. Through the jolting of the package the explosion occurred more than twenty minutes earlier, a watch of one of the dead having stopped at 7:34.

In the Charnel House.
Details of the slaughter in the station quadroom became more harrowing as daylight revealed the frightful work of destruction. The body of Desk Sergeant Deckert appears to have been completely disintegrated. There is an unaccounted for at the morgue which some think was Deckert's, while others claim his feet were not so large as the one found.

On the south wall of the quadroom there is a blotch of blood about three feet square, and it is believed that this constitutes the human remains of Deckert.

That he was killed, however, is thoroughly authenticated. A lodge card bearing his name was found in the debris.

Human Bones in Wall.
Almost every window in the police station, even to the glass in the tower above the third floor, was broken. One heavy fragment of bomb passed through two walls, past a long tier of prison cells, broke a four inch iron pipe, and then flew through a wooden rear door barred with iron strips.

Every wire in the telephone exchange upstairs was torn loose. A board holding 1,500 pounds weight in instruments was lifted a foot. Electric batteries on the third floor were cracked.

In the quadroom, where the explosion occurred, there was a mass of fragments of human flesh. Men were busy picking bits of human bone out of the walls. A large pile of human flesh was carried out in a canvas. Small coins in the slain men's pockets before the blast, were found twisted and bent.

Tells Story of Bomb.
Sam Mazzoni, the 18 year old Italian who brought the bomb into the police station, after it was found in the basement of the Guiani church, told his story today.

"I was called to the church last night after the bomb was discovered," he said. "I found a little bottle leaning at an angle with its mouth to the hole in the top of the bomb. Every one in a while a drop of brown liquid would fall into the hole. The bottle was not corked, but was tied with paper, through which the acid dropped."

"I took the bottle out and put it in my pocket. Then I put the bomb on my shoulder and started for the police station. It was very heavy—must have weighed forty pounds. The first time I lifted it it slipped and fell on the ground. I tried to carry it by the handle, but it was too heavy."

Carried It on Shoulder.
"Then I put it on my shoulder. It is seven or eight blocks to the police station. People jostled me several times, and now and then I'd set it down while I rested. Folks would walk around it, but they paid no attention."

"At the station I turned the bomb over to the police. Capt. Flood questioned me and I started out. I was holding the little bottle of acid in my hand. As I stepped into the hall there was an explosion. It threw me to the floor and spilled all the acid. It got on my hand and when I put my finger to my tongue it tasted sour. When I got up the bottle was still in my hand. Then I ran out. That's why they thought I was killed."

"The Anarchist Queen."
Mariana Nariga, called "the queen of the Anarchists' club," was visited in her cell, where she is waiting trial as the result of the riot of Sept. 9. She grew volatile and started a bitter flood of words against the Rev. Mr. Gulliani.

She said that Gulliani had aroused bitter feeling by making violent attacks upon the Catholic church.

"He says the priests bad; Catholic church bad. I knew better. Every one belongs to the Catholic church," she said.

STUDENTS TO TRY TEACHER CALLED ANTI-AMERICAN
Miss Caroline Schoch, teacher of German at the New Trier High school at Winnetka, said yesterday she is loyal to Uncle Sam, not the Kaiser. She pleaded "not guilty" to remaining in her seat while "The Star-Spangled Banner" was being played in the school on Wednesday.

Trustees of the school have called upon the student body to investigate the charges. John Laster, head of the student council, has been asked to call the students together. Evidence will be gathered and presented, and if the teacher is found guilty she will be asked for her resignation. The meeting will be held this afternoon.

"We'll make every effort," Laster said, "to see Miss Schoch is not unjustly accused of disloyalty. The general opinion among the students seems to be that she is anti-American."

"I may have had a book in my hand," said Miss Schoch, "but I really was interested in the lecture by Mrs. Harold Peat. At any rate I did not read the book, and had no intention of acting disloyally. If I did sit down before I really should have, it was because I didn't realize it in the excitement of the closing of the lecture."

WITNESSES TO FACE MAN WHO
SET OPERA BOMB
Two persons will face Reinhold A. Faust today.

This statement, made yesterday by Chief of Police Hermon F. Schettler, gave rise to the belief that the two persons, whose names were withheld, occupied seats near K28 in the Auditorium theater on the night when the bomb was found in the aisle.

If Faust occupied K28, that night, leaving after placing the bomb, two witnesses will complete the net of evidence which the police have woven around the prisoner, it is believed.

"The case will be taken before the November grand jury by State's Attorney Hoyne today, and I believe that indictments charging arson and manufacturing explosives will be returned against Faust within a short time," said the chief.

INVADERS SHIFT ITALY ATTACK TO NO PURPOSE

Diaz Troops Hold Along Entire Line and Destroy Pontoon Move.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
In the Italian theater the troops of Gen. Diaz are more than holding their own against the savage attacks of the Austro-Germans from the region of Lake Garda eastward to the upper reaches of the Piave river. After last week's severe repulses with heavy casualties the invaders have switched their main offensive to the Asiago plateau sector, but here also they have been held by the Italians without the gain of a yard of ground. Attack has been met with counter attack, and in addition to inflicting heavy casualties the Italians also have captured two machine gun batteries.

The fighting along the Piave river from the hilly region to the Adriatic has been sporadic, but at one place where the enemy attempted to cross the river on pontoons he was wiped out by the fire of the defending artillery.

MAKE NO GROUND.
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN ITALY, Saturday, Nov. 24.—Strong enemy attacks with artillery preparation continued throughout the day along the whole front between the Brenta and Piave rivers, but the enemy made no ground, and all his attacks failed.

The fighting, while severe, was not of that whirlwind character of the last two days, and both sides are engaged in reorganizing their positions on the shifting front and taking a momentary respite from the tremendous strain of the last few days.

Further details of the fierceness of the recent fighting in the north were given to the correspondent by an eye-witness returning from the battle line, who also told of many instances of daring by regiments, batteries, and individuals.

Praise for Artillery.
The Italian artillery has especially distinguished itself. In the fighting around Meletta d'Avanti a mountain battery was obliged to fall back with the infantry. Every officer of the battery had been killed except the captain, who was badly wounded. While bleeding on the ground he called two runners, ordered them to set up the wreck of the remaining gun, and directed them to fire from this point. The last seen of him was on the ground behind this piece.

Two other batteries were brought into action yesterday morning. The enemy fire was so fierce that a whole battery was nearly swept away. As the captain was killed, his place was taken by a lieutenant. When the last gun was destroyed in a storm of shells the few gunners about him seized their bayonets and joined the infantry as they swept forward in a charge and were among those who drove back the enemy in one of the fiercest attacks.

Wear Italian Uniform.
There have been many instances of Austrians gaining advanced positions by wearing the Italian uniform. Austrian prisoners are captured wearing the Italian uniform summary action at once is taken without the formalities of trial.

U. S. GIRL USED BY GERMANS AS OFFICERS' TOY

Soldier Brother Receives Pitiful Plea from a Farm Prisoner.

Ayer, Mass., Nov. 25.—Indignities inflicted upon a 19 year old American girl in Germany are described in a letter given out by the authorities at Camp Devens last night. The letter was written to her brother, a private in the national army here, who turned the communication over to his superior officers with a request that something be done to obtain his sister's release.

The man is of German descent and came from New Hampshire. Before the outbreak of the war his mother went to Germany to visit her parents and has remained there since. Six months ago, he says, his sister received an official appearing document from Germany saying that her mother was ill there and that she should make arrangements to go to see her if possible.

Held Prisoner on a Farm.
The girl's letter said:
"Mother is well and has not been sick. When I arrived here I found that the whole report of her illness was a hoax. I was taken by the military officials and am now confined at a farm where there are hundreds of other girls and women. This is only one of lots of such places. I am so unhappy."

"Even the best classes of young girls and women are confined here, and you can well imagine how they feel. We are not treated well and the food is horrible and it is even worse considering the conditions we are living under."

Subjected to Indignities.
"Officers and men who have won glory in battle spend a month or more furlough here and we are subjected to all sorts of indignities. I am so unhappy that several times I have almost made up my mind to kill myself. Mother was held here for two months some time ago, and now she cannot visit me. I hope you will try to do something in America and help me."

The message, written on a piece of paper, ended with a hastily written postscript that she must hurry to smuggle the note out.

When the private was told that nothing could be done to help his sister he at once applied for a transfer to the next unit sailing for the battle front.

'MADE IN GERMANY'

Bourne Criticizes Use by the Soldiers of Scissors Made in Kaiserland.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Recently it was found that among 104 students at the Fort Niagara Reserve Officers' Training camp forty were provided with twenty-eight pairs of scissors with the German brand upon them. It is believed that at least 70 per cent of the other 1,400 men also were equipped with "made in Germany" scissors.

In criticism the Republican publicity bureau through its president, Jonathan Bourne Jr., gave out the following statement:

"Why should American fighting men be equipped with the scissors of the Hun? Why should the bandages of our wounded be cut with shears fabricated by the people who caused these wounds? We have a dozen or so of factories in this country. They make good scissors and shears, and today they are being taxed to sustain the war against an enemy who, in normal times, under the Democratic tariff policy, is permitted to drive them out of the home market and encourage to give them no quarter."

"The Republican tariff law gave to scissors and shears a protective duty, ranging from 45 per cent for the lower to 67 per cent for the higher grades. The Democrats put all grades down to 30 per cent, and in the brief ten months between the passage of the bill and the outbreak of the war importations of these goods increased over 30 per cent. That law is still in force."

Two Sought to Throw
Light on Girl's Death
Inquiry was made yesterday for Clark M. Gardner and Ernest Anderson of 4641 Kenmore avenue, following the identification of the body of Miss Anna Seller, in a morgue in West Madison street.

Identification was made after more than a week of search for relatives. On Saturday Miss Elizabeth and Benjamin B. Seller, the latter of 539 North Avers avenue, made sure the body was that of their sister, Anna. The girl ended her life by gas in a rooming house at 1921 West Adams street. Others living in the house said Gardner and Anderson had been seen with her.

JOLT FOR H. C. L.; OUTLINE PLANS TO AID CONSUMER

Co-operative Societies to Eliminate the Mid- dleman.

New York, Nov. 25.—Methods were outlined at a meeting here today of the delegates of the Consumers' Co-operative societies of the eastern states for organization of a gigantic system to eliminate the middleman, lower the price, and simplify the distribution of food by bringing the consumer and distributor into direct relationship.

Approximately 1,000 co-operative stores throughout the United States will be federated with central offices and the members of the trade unions will be asked to give their cooperation under the plan proposed. These steps will be the first to make the system effective. Prof. Edward P. Cheyney of the University of Pennsylvania declared. He added that the plan is nothing short of "economic revolution in the United States."

Labor Unions as Centers.
The labor unions will be made the centers of the organization which will be extended into mutual and co-operative organizations and later into co-operative banks and credit unions, it was asserted.

This system is expected not only to reduce the cost of food, clothing, and other necessities but ultimately to secure pensions for the aged, subsidies for motherhood, and provide life, health, and occupational insurance at cost, speakers at the meeting declared.

James W. Sullivan, a representative of the American Federation of Labor, announced at the meeting that the labor organization approved the plan.

System Used in Russia.
M. Fainberg, representative of the Norodny Bank of Moscow, who is here buying supplies for a co-operative society of the Russian people, declared such a system is in force in Russia. The combination has a membership of 15,000,000 families and the bank operated by the members is one of the strongest in Russia, he declared.

BULLETIN.

BY ARNO DOSCH FLEURET.
PETROGRAD, Nov. 24.—(Delayed.)—The work of representatives of the soviet in spreading their peace propaganda among the German soldiers on the various fronts is making such progress that it cannot fail to affect the German morale. The Russians are doing the German army more damage now than at any time by their fighting.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The state documents made public by the Bolshevik foreign minister, Trotsky, at Petrograd according to the semi-official Petrograd news agency, show that France claimed that it was entitled to the return of Alsace Lorraine, the iron and coal districts of France, and the wooded regions on the left bank of the Rhine. There were also to be assigned from Germany and freed from all political and economic dependence upon Germany certain territories which were to be formed into free neutral states. These would be occupied by Russian troops until certain guarantees were fulfilled and peace concluded.

One document refers to the reported conference of financiers in Switzerland last September, in which Great Britain denies having participated, concerning which it is suggested that the German delegates insisted on the cession of the Baltic provinces and the independence of Finland.

Petrograd, via London, Nov. 25.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—A proclamation signed "Spiridonov, chairman of the assembly," has been addressed to all delegates from the armistice at the front and division and district deputies. It says: "An extraordinary assembly has been opened. Comrades are requested to come immediately to a conference of the All-Russian peasant deputies. One should be sent from each district and each division."

Lening Explains Armistice.
PETROGRAD, Nov. 25.—(Midnight.)—At a meeting of the central executive committee of the Workers' and Soldiers' deputies tonight the Bolshevik premier, Lenin, replying to criticism directed against the order that the soldiers' open negotiations for an armistice, which order a wounded soldier termed a great blunder on the part of the council of national commissioners, explained that the order was issued in the desire to combat the counter-revolutionary tactics of Gen. Dukhonin and other high officers, making it impossible for them to prevent the opening of negotiations. This, he said, was in keeping with the policy of the democratic government, that the masses themselves act, since the bureaucrats, civil and military, were distrusted. He pointed out that the soldiers are not empowered to sign a treaty for an armistice, but only to negotiate it.

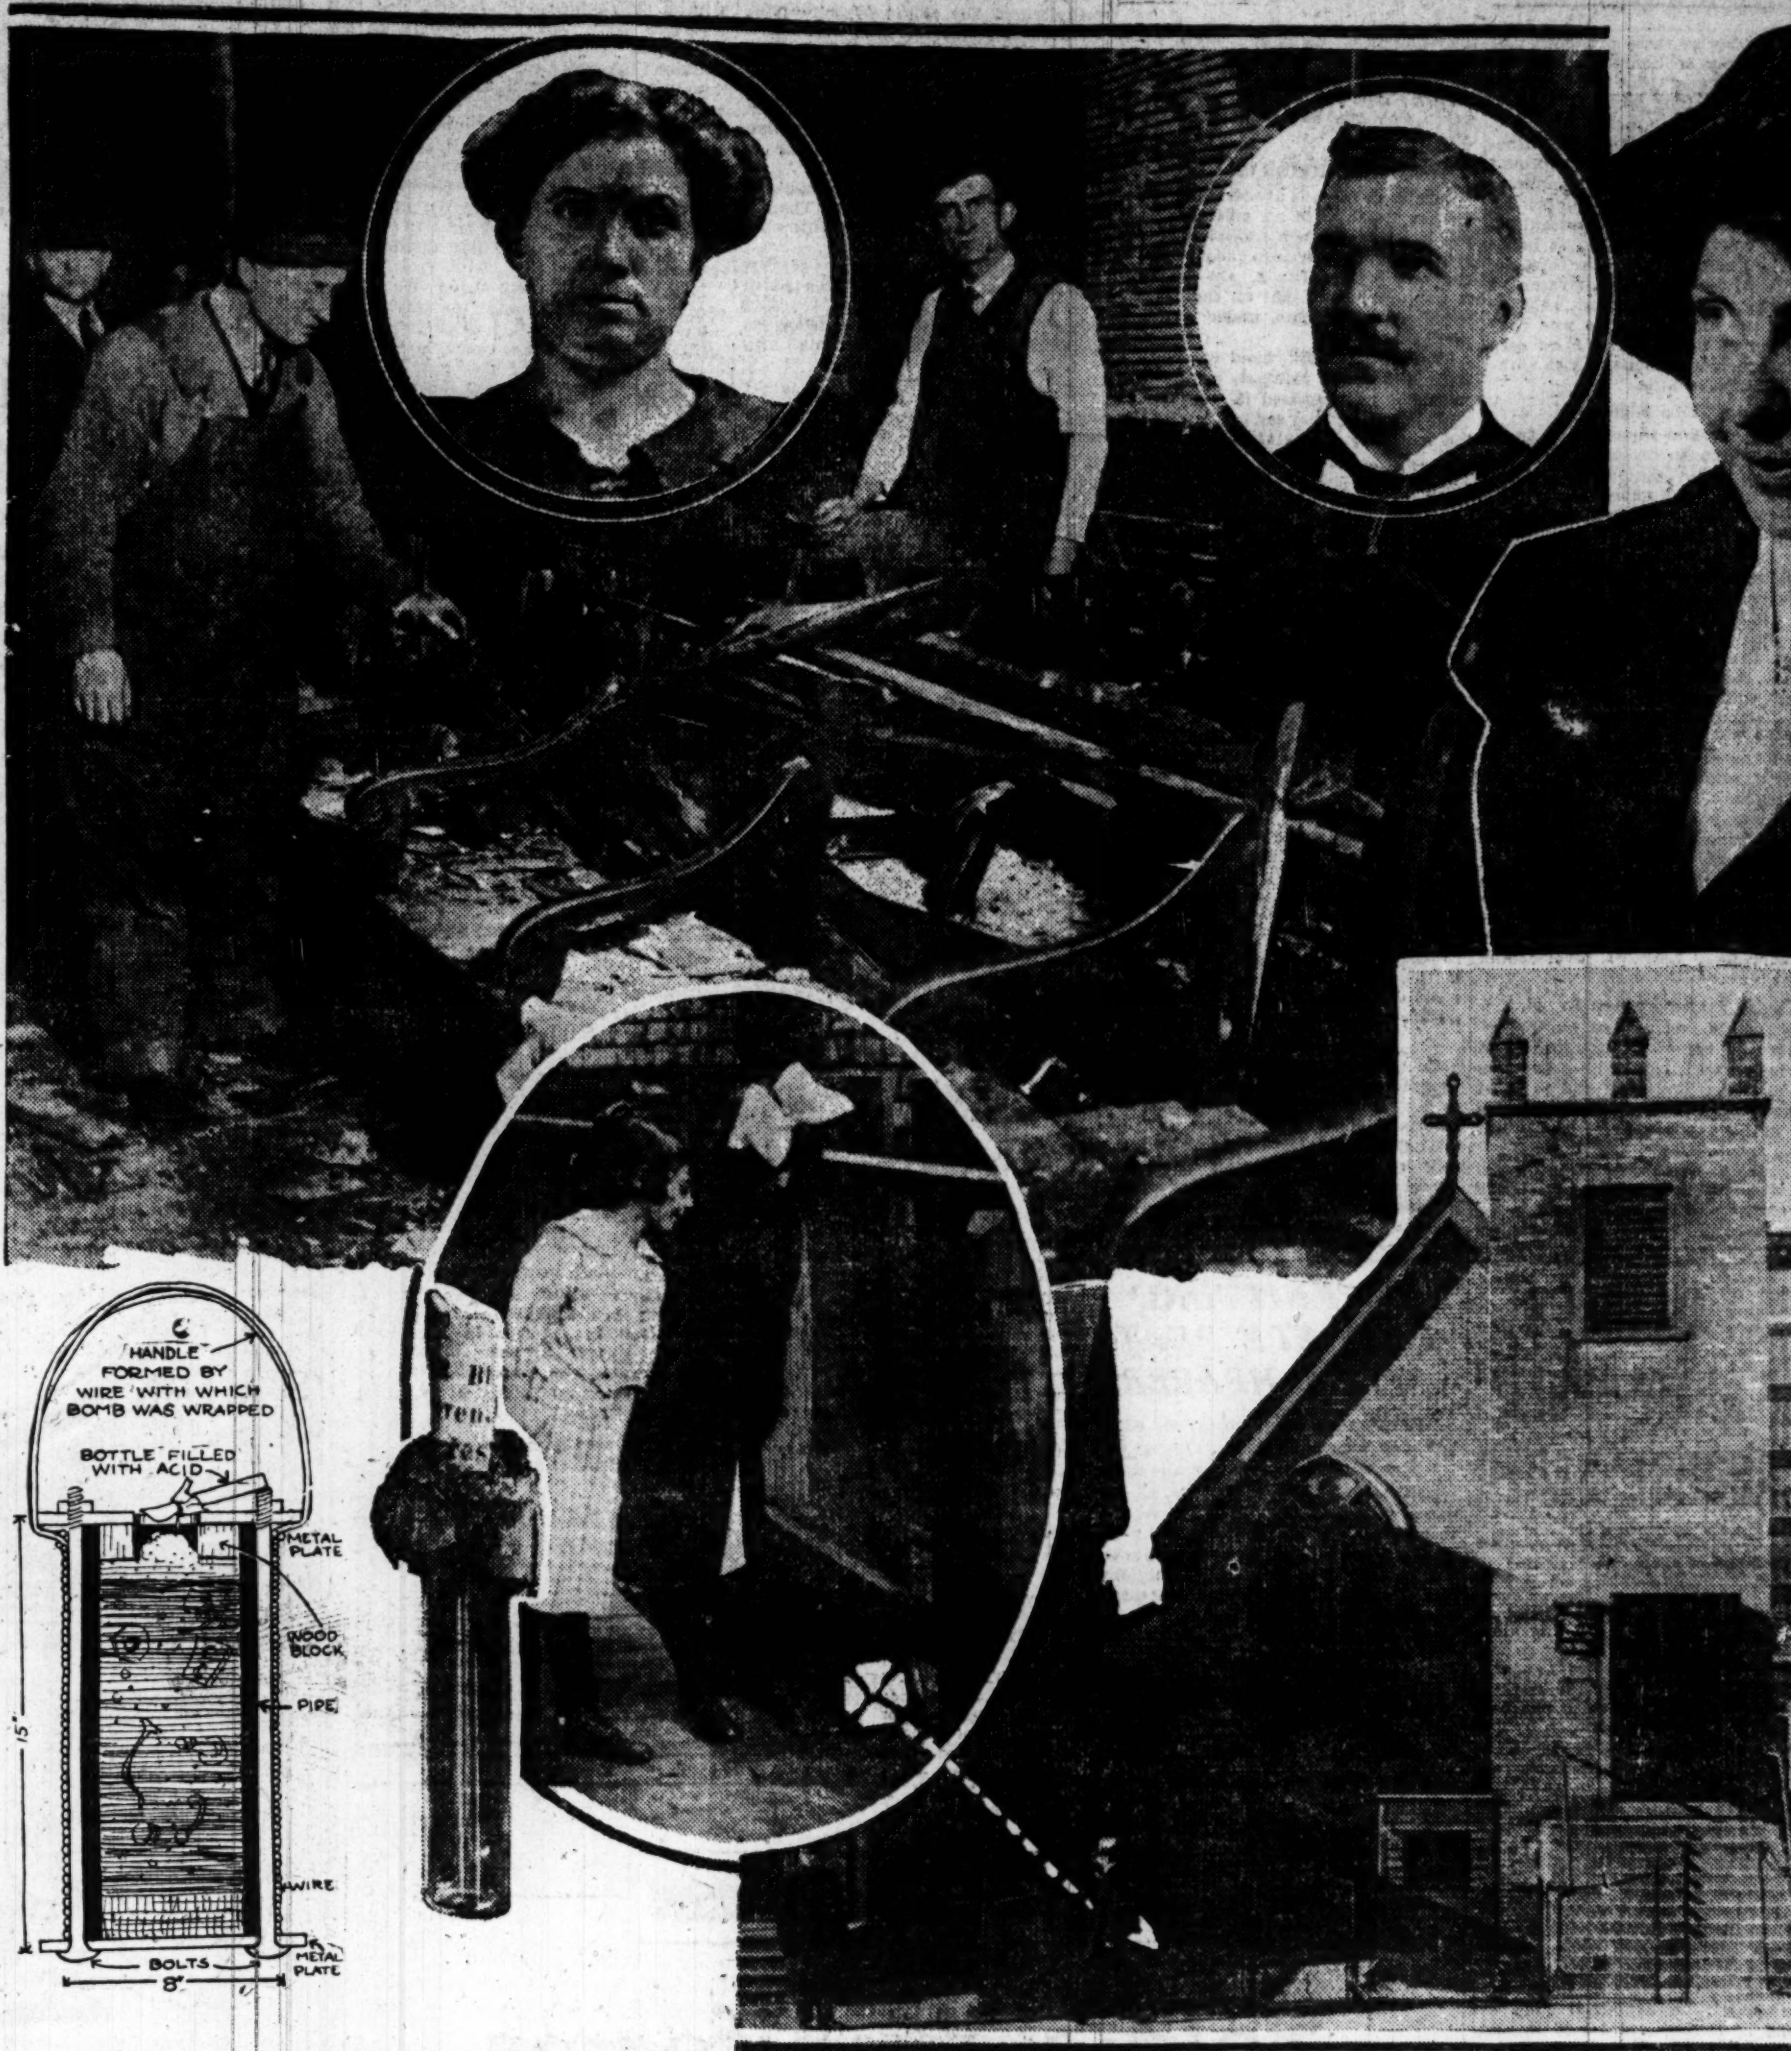

Not a Separate Peace.
Lenin declared that Russia did not contemplate a separate peace with Germany; that the belief that an armistice on the Russian front would throw a large force on the French front was groundless, as the Russian government, before signing a treaty by an armistice, would communicate with the allies and make certain proposals to the imperialistic governments of France and England, rejection of which would place them in open opposition to the wishes of their own people.

The automatic methods of the council of national commissioners, as indicated by the issuance of decrees relating to an armistice without consulting the central executive committee of the workers' and soldiers' deputies, which is the highest governing body in Russia today, have caused dissension in the ranks of the Bolsheviks.

The conflict between the protesting members of the committee, notably the social revolutionists, and the council of national commissioners is ripening. The question of the committee's refusal to issue an order to soldiers to open peace negotiations was heatedly discussed.

May Release Million of Food.
GENEVA, Nov. 25.—Following on Lord Robert Cecil's declaration of recognition of Lenin's régime in Russia, the Journal De Geneve says: "Lenin never acknowledged that Russia had any duties toward its allies, and they must realize that Lenin's rule at Petrograd, his proposal of an armistice with Germany is dangerous because if he can find even a Russian general to sign his own treason would result in the release of 1,000,000 German prisoners of the allies."

The paper suggests that if Lenin is to be bought the allies should buy him.

THE MILWAUKEE BOMB TRAGEDY

Scenes in Connection with the Tangled Plot, the Foiling of Which Led to the Loss of Eleven Lives.

The main upper picture is a scene of the wreckage in the police station after the bomb exploded. In the first circle to the left is a picture of Marianna Nardina, known as "Queen of the Anarchists," whose arrest is believed to have inspired the foiled attack on the Italian Evangelical church. In the circle to the right is the picture of Louis Hartman, detective victim, who is still alive. To the right of him is Mrs. Maude Richter, who found the bomb outside the church. The drawing at the lower left is a cross section of the bomb. To the right of the drawing is the bottle containing acid, which was to filter into the bomb and set it off, as indicated in the drawing. Next to the right, reading left to right, are Rose Congiagaro and Rose D'Amico, little girls of the neighborhood, looking at the spot where the bomb was found, a board having been kicked off to place it through the fence. To the right of this is the church, empty to whose pastor, A. Giuliani, is believed to have been the cause of the attack. (Arrow and cross indicate place where the bomb was found.)

TROOPS GUARD N. Y. HARBOR AND THE WATERFRONT

New York, Nov. 25.—Armed guards were posted all along the water front of New York and New York harbor at midnight. This step was taken by the government to bar alien enemies, from points where they might cause damage at piers, terminals, and warehouses.

Brig. Gen. E. D. Hoyle, commanding the department of the east, federal, and municipal officials, made a two-hour automobile trip of inspection late yesterday after a long conference at Governor's island, at which plans were made for the posting of guards. The following statement was issued from Gen. Hoyle's headquarters:

"The situation has been thoroughly canvassed and the indications are that most of the piers and other waterfront locations are well guarded, and military guards may be placed only at points here and there at which additional guards are needed."

John C. Knox, United States district attorney, decided that the military will take over some of the more important points and the police department will assign a patrolman to every pier and dock. There will be a general tightening up on docks and it is probable no one will be allowed to go on a pier unless he has certain means of identification. This system of identification remains to be worked out."

Sailor Who Enlisted in Chicago Drowned at Sea

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—The navy department has been informed that Casimir Andrew Mak, a Polish sailor, was lost overboard from the U. S. S. Jettett on the morning of Nov. 21, when the vessel was carrying away.

His mother, Mary Matier, lives at West Olive, Mich.

INDIANA AVIATOR ESCAPES DEATH AND PRUSSAINS

Alva O'Brien has escaped from a German prison and is once more an aviator with the British forces soon to be transferred to the United States service, and Lowell, Ind., rejoices.

To Mrs. Maggie O'Brien, a widow, life has been alternately sunshine and shadow for more than a year. Alva, her only son, enlisted in the English Royal Air corps prior to the entrance of this country into the war, and the first word she received was of his death. This step was taken by the government to bar alien enemies, from points where they might cause damage at piers, terminals, and warehouses.

Brig. Gen. E. D. Hoyle, commanding the department of the east, federal, and municipal officials, made a two-hour automobile trip of inspection late yesterday after a long conference at Governor's island, at which plans were made for the posting of guards. The following statement was issued from Gen. Hoyle's headquarters:

"The situation has been thoroughly canvassed and the indications are that most of the piers and other waterfront locations are well guarded, and military guards may be placed only at points here and there at which additional guards are needed."

John C. Knox, United States district attorney, decided that the military will take over some of the more important points and the police department will assign a patrolman to every pier and dock. There will be a general tightening up on docks and it is probable no one will be allowed to go on a pier unless he has certain means of identification. This system of identification remains to be worked out."

U. S. AGENT SAYS ALLIES PICK MAN TO SAVE RUSSIA

Officials of the allied governments have picked their man to bring order out of the Russian chaos. J. Ralph Pickell said yesterday. Mr. Pickell, a special envoy to Russia of the United States food administration, spoke at the Hotel La Salle.

"The Bolsheviks will fail," said Mr. Pickell. "When the time is ripe for his appearance, the allies will give the man they pin their faith to unlimited support. Then and only then Russia will resume her place on the battle front."

Mr. Pickell said he helped Russian officials formulate a plan for feeding the population. This plan, he said, will be put into operation as soon as a stable government is established. Mr. Pickell attributed all of the revolutions in Russia to the food shortages in the cities. He said the supply in the country was ample and there were adequate rail facilities.

In August Mrs. O'Brien was notified again of her son's disappearance. While making a flight over the lines near Verdun British aviators were met by the Germans, and O'Brien didn't return. On the farm at Lowell the mother refused to give her boy up as dead and a month later was rewarded by hopeful news. He had been located in a German prison through a note smuggled out by a Tommy who had escaped. Yesterday the wires carried a report to the Indiana town of the aviator's escape and return to France.

VICE CONSUL FOR RUSSIA OFFERS U. S. SERVICES

International diplomacy will this morning record a new triumph for Dan Cupid (classical allusion) who appears to have leagued with Uncle Sam to make the world safe for democracy (and metaphor, period and new paragraph).

For George S. Romanovsky of Kiev, Russia, vice consul in Chicago and formerly acting consul at San Francisco, quit his job yesterday because he condemns the Bolshevik policies. And in addition the noblest Romanovsky of them all is "America First."

He telegraphed to the war department a proffer of his services for any duty available in aid of the allied armies.

The interesting part of the story—Miss Goldie Frances Blankin—lives at 8207 Indiana avenue and the two are to be married soon. Their engagement was announced some time ago. Miss Blankin attended St. Xavier's academy, where she was a member of the Pi Delta Pi sorority. Her father, Dr. Anthony Blankin, is president of the fourth slave committee of the United States.

CLABAUGH WILL HEAR HANSEN GIRL'S CHARGES

Petrie May Have to Face Accusations Under Mann Act.

Henry W. Petrie, who lured 17 year old Laura Hansen of Elmhurst away from home last July, will have to face charges under the Mann act, it is reported.

Laura returned home Saturday night from Boulder, Colo., after traveling over the country with Petrie, who, at 57, deserted his wife and children in Downers Grove.

Petrie and the girl had been sought since he lured her away on July 20, and he still is at large. The return of the girl is believed to foreshadow his capture.

Clabaugh to Hear Her.

Laura is to tell her story to Hinton O. Clabaugh, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, today. Mr. Clabaugh has promised to issue the warrants if the girl's story indicates Petrie is guilty.

Chief of Police Martin White of Downers Grove said: "I know of two persons who are concealing Petrie's whereabouts. If possible we intend to arrest them and make them tell where he is."

It is believed Petrie will appear at Bettleville, O., where Mrs. Rome Brown, who writes the words that Petrie gets to music, lives. He is known to have hidden at Mrs. Brown's home several times.

Girl with Friends.

Laura, who fell into her father's arms when she returned to Chicago Saturday night, did not go home with him to Elmhurst, as it was believed she would. Mr. Hansen said she was with friends.

"I will relentlessly follow Petrie up until he is brought to justice," said the father.

TAY PAY TELLS ZIONISTS DREAM NEARS REALITY

"The latest developments in Palestine mean that England is practically in control, and I have no doubt that she will keep her promise to the Jews, made to Lord Rothschild and the Zionist federation, that she will reinstate them in the 'promised land,'" said T. P. O'Connor yesterday.

He was speaking to a large audience in the Chicago Hebrew Institute, Taylor street and Racine avenue. The address was given under the auspices of the middle western bureau of the Federation of Zionists.

"The Jews have had a chance to become famous by intermingling with other nations—being a nation without a country. They have not apostated themselves of their creed and national desires, and one good argument for Zionism is the fact that there have been Jews in the British cabinet and there were three in the last one. If they can assist in ruling a great empire like Great Britain, then the Jews surely can rule a country of their own."

"Tay Pay" also exhorted all Jews to help the United States in the war in return for the freedom that has been bestowed upon them in this country.

Fund for Armenians and Syrians Nears $100,000

Yesterday was the day designated by President Wilson for offerings for Armenian and Syrian relief. "Returns have not yet been reported," said Rufus C. Dawes, chairman of the Chicago committee, "but we hope the amount will reach $100,000. Our treasurer, Harry A. Wheeler, has sent to New York during the year since the committee was organized about $90,000 and we hope to reach the $100,000 mark right away."

Railways May Ask $100,000,000 Loan of U. S. to Help Rehabilitate Their Lines and Equipment

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.] The pooling of the eastern railroads, announced yesterday, is to be followed by equally radical action to develop a transportation system adequate to the prodigious demands of the nation's war effort.

The railroads' war board began today organizing the machinery of the pooling arrangement, and in addition issued a set of stringent instructions for the handling of freight and rolling stock designed to eliminate waste and make every pound of equipment do additional service.

It also develops that members of the war board are giving serious consideration to the proposal to ask a loan from the government of $100,000,000 or more with which to build freight cars, engines, and other equipment.

Stock as Security.

The most definite suggestion so far made is that the railroads give their stock and bonds, to an amount acceptable to the government, as security for the loan. It is contended that loans by the United States to the allies to finance war activities are no more imperative than to the American railroads to finance the provision of equipment, without which America's own military operations will be greatly hampered and curtailed.

Samuel Ros, president of the Pennsylvania system and a member of the war board, looks with favor on a government loan, but says it would be ineffective unless the government should also release enough steel, lumber, machinery, and labor to build the additional cars and engines. If, therefore, a loan eventually should be negotiated it probably will be connected with arrangements with the government to provide the supply of material and labor.

Congress Must Act.

Congressional action would be required to authorize a loan to the railroads and congressional leaders have been sound on the question. Some opposition has developed among senators and representatives who profess to see in the plan an intent on the part of the railroads to give the government a financial interest in their properties sufficient to induce the government to authorize rates productive of enough revenue to liquidate the loan. They also suggest that the government interest might be used to prevent strikes.

The proposed embargo on the transportation of nonessentials, which would mean a curtailment of the manufacture of such articles, is still under advisement. The list of nonessentials made up by the war board is being revised by Fuel Administrator Garfield.

Robert S. Lovett, administrator of the priority transportation act, said today that the report that he was contemplating an order shutting off cars from the automobile industry was without foundation in fact.

Rules More Rigorous.

Fourteen specific instructions as to additional methods for increasing the capacity of their equipment and facilities were issued today to the railroads of the country by the war board through its chairman, Fairfax Harrison.

While repeating and emphasizing the suggestions previously made, under which approximately 16 per cent more traffic was handled during the second quarter of 1917 than during the corresponding period of 1916, the board directs attention to the extraordinary additional amount of transportation that the carriers will be called upon to supply, and the new instructions go much further than any that have previously been issued.

Motor Transportation Urged.

Still further instructions are to "encourage the use of motor trucks and cooperation with trolley lines for handling short haul freight," and to enlist the services of water transportation in all reasonable and practical ways.

In order to avoid congestion at seaports and regional gateways the board advises the prompt use of embargoes, which, it says, "should be established wherever possible, railroads are directed to 'arrange for common use of terminals and facilities, to tide over threatening emergencies.' They are also told 'whenever transportation can be conserved to avoid the use of unreasonably circuitous routes, carefully avoiding, however, overloading direct routes.'" immediately on signs of trouble, without waiting, as has frequently been done, until congestion has actually occurred. An ounce of prevention is worth not one but many pounds of cure."

Western railroads are handling their freight traffic with an efficiency that will not necessitate a pool of the properties west of Chicago, according to the local railway heads. On Saturday it was announced that all the eastern roads would be run under a single management.

William M. Bied, head of the Chicago and Alton railroad, said: "We need not be surprised if later in the winter we face the same situation we did last year. I think the new plan will help a great deal, but it will get harder and harder to prevent a freight blockade."

There have already been signs of congestion in St. Louis. For a month or more we have routed east bound tonnage through other gateways from the west and southwest."

Earlier Embargoes?

Mr. Bied said the eastern blockade of last year, which finally reached Chicago and St. Louis, could have been postponed if the railroads had started placing embargoes on certain classes of freight at an earlier date than was done. He expressed the opinion that embargoes would be ordered much earlier this winter.

W. L. Park, vice president of the Illinois Central railroad, said: "There will be no trouble about getting freight traffic from the west to Chicago. I have just returned from the west, and I see no reason why the present organizations cannot take care of this winter's traffic problems. It is a different and much more serious situation east of Chicago."

Passenger Traffic.

Congested passenger traffic is another problem, serious in the east, which is giving no difficulty to the western railroads, the Chicago men say.

They do not believe there will be any reason for limiting passenger travel west of Chicago, although the suggestion is being given serious consideration in the east.

ROBBERS JOKE WHILE VICTIMS IDENTIFY THEM

One, Accused with Them, Dies; Was Shot by Detective.

Claude McGillucuddy kept a rendezvous with death yesterday while the four male inmates of the thieves' nest uncovered at 651-653 East Fifth street Saturday through the detective.

Detective Sergeant Michael Twombly's gun arm were confessing a series of holdups in automobiles.

An all day reunion was held at the Fifth Park station between the thieves and their victims. The four were in a merry mood. They joked with the victims, rehearsing the circumstances of each crime. Some victims they termed "game guys," others "soft," etc.

Protests Innocence.

McGillucuddy died insisting he was innocent. But Detective Sergeant Twombly had positively identified him. The sergeant was walking in Ellis avenue, between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets, Wednesday night, when an automobile drew up to the curb and a man with a revolver jumped out and ordered him to raise his hands.

Identified by Eleven Persons.

Altogether, eleven persons identified McGillucuddy's alleged pals. Frederico, who appears to be the directing genius of the band, told the police they would steal an automobile, use it for a night, then abandon it. McGillucuddy was one of them, he said.

All the jewelry and other values, he said, were given to Lucille Jordan, the woman the police found beside the cradle Saturday, and whom Frederico referred to as his wife. At his suggestion, the police will take him to the south Clark street station, where he will try to induce her to tell the hiding place.

Some of the Victims.
Among the purse snatching victims who identified the four yesterday were: MRS. HARTWELL, 4946 Forrester avenue; MRS. E. ANDERSON, 5009 Duane boulevard; MRS. E. W. MOYER, 4536 Michigan avenue; MRS. JULIUS GREEN, 4439 Calumet avenue; MRS. GRACE DELANEY, 4224 Grand boulevard.

Identification was also made by the following holdup victims:

RAY KAHN, 7019 Marquette road; HERMAN FELDER, 5817 Calumet avenue; L. E. SMITH, 6202 Greenwood avenue; J. GOLDBERG, 2107 Humboldt boulevard; VINCENT HUBER, 6217 Langley avenue.

Robberies dwindled yesterday, according to police reports. Benjamin John of 1826 West Fourteenth street, reported he had been struck over the head while crossing Twelfth street at LaSalle avenue and robbed of a pair of rubbers and $20.

A handbag was wrested from Mrs. Ida Gergeln of 201 East Superior street at Chicago avenue and State street.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Because of the inability of the first witness, Col. W. J. Bryan, to be present, it was planned today to postpone the investigation of Senator La Follette's St. Paul speech, which was to have been resumed tomorrow.

The date of the hearing was not determined definitely, but it was thought the first week of congress would be a suitable time for Mr. Bryan to come to Washington.

Prediction That Cleveland Music Teacher Would Seek Reconciliation with Wife Who Sought to Die Falls to Materialize.

Mrs. Logan, who took poison on Friday in the Morrison hotel, and her husband, organist in the Euclid Avenue church, Cleveland, failed to materialize yesterday. Mr. Logan failed to put in an appearance in the Frances Willard hospital, where Mrs. Logan is recovering from her poison attempt.

It has been suggested by friends that a reconciliation would follow the meeting of Mrs. Logan and her husband, and that her discovery in a hotel room with Harry D. Whitcraft, a pupil of her husband's, would be forgotten. Whitcraft is in a cell in the detective bureau awaiting action of Logan.

Mrs. Daisy Hartwig of 4425 North Racine avenue, a friend of Mrs. Logan, who has remained by her side since she attempted to end her life, is said to have made a prediction that the "clouds would roll away."

FATE OF MINOTTO FINDS SPURS NO PUT IN HANDS OF U. S. OFFICIAL

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—The fact that the Bellevue Stratford does not want to mix spurs with evening gowns last night forced at least one young lieutenant who cherished his duty more dearly than his pleasure to leave the dance hall of the hotel.

Lieut. Arthur P. Schock, Three Hundred and Twelfth field artillery, Camp Meade, Md., was the soldier who ran up against the conflict of army regulations and hotel life.

According to the rules laid down by the war department an officer in the mounted service must at all times be equipped with spurs, whether mounted or dismounted.

Lieut. Schock had just returned from playing with the Camp Meade officers against the ambulance corps in Reading, when he started to dance at the hotel with his bride of a few months.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Col. Edward M. House, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, Admiral Benson, and the other members of the American mission today visited the Pictus cemetery and placed a floral wreath on the tomb of Lafayette.

The wreath bore the inscription: "From the American War Mission, in Grateful Remembrance." There were no speeches.

Col. House had another long conference today with M. Clemenceau, the French premier. Other members of the mission met together and compared notes on the work thus far accomplished, and spent the remainder of the day in informal conferences.

Sister's Dare Moves Hodgkins to Marry Again

Friend of "Brown Eyes" Follows Miss Hazel to Altar.

Saturday there were two weddings in the Hodgkins family. One was "official," and took place at the family residence at 3615 Sheffield avenue when Miss Hazel Hodgkins became the bride of Joseph George Singer. The other was by the "Crown Point route," and mother, perhaps, does not know about it yet. It happened like this: After the first ceremony the newlyweds went automobile with the bride's brother, Fred H. Hodgkins Jr., and his fiancée, Miss Kathryn B. Leonard of Lake Villa, Ill.

"I dare you two to get married!" suddenly exclaimed Mrs. Singer to her brother and his fiancée.

"What do you say to that?" asked Mr. Fred of his fiancée.

"I'm game," was the answer.

"Hi, there—Crown Point"—this to the chauffeur. And Crown Point it was.

Once Married and Divorced.

Fred Hodgkins, a young man with a marcel wave, has been married before. He was divorced before Judge Kersten a year ago last April.

"Too many girls," said the first wife, Mrs. Alice Hodgkins.

And she offered in evidence her husband's memorandum book containing the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of several young women.

Hodgkins is a traveling salesman. In addition to that she convinced the court the names appearing in the book were not all the girls upon which Fred was bestowing his affections, by offering a letter written to her husband signed "Brown Eyes."

"Brown Eyes" Letter.

This letter read:

"Dear Fred: Well, how's the boy feeling today, so far away from dear old Chicago? O, if you only knew how blue I get you would write more letters to me and call me your dear old time sweetheart. Happy will be the day when you can leave off the 'old time' part of it and I can once again be your sweetheart."

"Well, I guess it doesn't do any good to dream. Dreams don't bring you anything. They only make you old and gray—and that will never do. Ever yours, 'Brown Eyes'."

"Did you marry 'Brown Eyes'?" Hodgkins was asked yesterday.

"I should say not. Why, 'Brown Eyes' was a nurse and has been married over a year now. I have known my wife a considerable time."

"Did her name appear in your memorandum book?"

"Beneath the door."

It is understood that the new Mrs. Hodgkins has returned temporarily to her home at Lake Villa, while her husband is still at the home of his mother.

PAIR DANCE INTO CUSTODY TO TUNE OF CANNED BLUES

And Suspect Is Moved to Confess by Home Song.

Canned blues proved a successful aid to the law yesterday.

This fact developed in the stories of Ray Goldman, 1508 West Lake street; Julius Stahl, and Miss Edith Calafian of 1821 Washington boulevard.

The Adams Express company recently reported to the detective bureau the robbery of much women's wearing apparel and a music box. Detective Sergeants Comforth and Gooch were assigned to the case. Julius Stahl, 21 years old, driver for the express company, was under suspicion.

An advertisement was noted in which Miss Calafian held forth women's wearing apparel for sale. The detectives yesterday followed Stahl to Miss Calafian's flat.

Stahl entered. The detectives stopped in the hallway. Soon the strains of "Paradise Blues" came floating from the flat and the detectives entered the flat and recovered the music box and $1,000 worth of women's wear alleged to have been stolen by Stahl. The goods were taken to the detective bureau.

Stahl and the woman were dancing when the detectives arrived. Both were arrested.

The music box was installed at the bureau. All day long its canned jazz music riled the summer quarters. Soon there was brought in Ray Goldman, a Negro, accused of stealing jewelry from west side stores. He refused to admit it, so he was placed in a cell.

Soon the strains of "I'm Going Back, Back, Back to Carolina" floated out. Goldman called for the lockup keeper. "That tune's got me all fussed up," he said.

They played it twice for him, and then he pulled a letter from his pocket. "That's from my wife," he said. "I just came from Carolina."

And he followed it with a complete confession of his jewelry thefts.

BODY, SOUL AND HEART OF ARMY REST UPON YOU

Bishop Williams Cites Lessons of France to 3,000.

Bishop Charles D. Williams, head of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan, told an audience of 3,000 at the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night that when a citizen buys a Liberty bond he is supporting the body of the American army; when he contributes to the Young Men's Christian association he is helping to keep the soul of the army right; and when he gives money to the support of the American Red Cross he gives to the heart of the army.

"It's going to take all three to win this war," said Bishop Williams, who has just returned after a month in France in the interest of the Red Cross.

France fights for us.

"Looking back upon my visit to France, I see a great and noble nation which for three years has been fighting our fight. We have misunderstood France. We have called her gay, frivolous, if not generally immoral. Yet in this great war she today calls forth a higher regard and a deeper respect than any other nation.

In retrospect I see another figure there—a great America, with one strong arm around France, in the other the drawn sword, fighting for her.

United America Needed.

"I have a paramount conviction that this is our war. We must win it, and we shall win it. To win requires a united America.

I am a man of peace, and I love peace so much that I am willing to fight for it. The professional pacifist says, 'We will fight when the peace is invaded.' Doesn't he realize that America was invaded when the Lusitania was sunk; it was invaded every time a German torpedo was shot at an American vessel; every time our internal peace was assailed by the Von Papens and the Bernstorffs."

PROTEST VISIT OF DR. HOLLWEG TO SWITZERLAND

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says pan-German newspapers received there protest against Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the former imperial chancellor, being permitted to go to Switzerland on what is alleged to be a mission of great political importance, accompanied by his former assistant, Arnold Wahnschaffe, and a staff of secretaries.

Pan-Germans Win Stresemann.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 25.—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, leader of the German National Liberals in the reichstag, has openly placed himself on the side of the advocates of annexation and the opponents of peace by agreement.

The Vorwaerts reports Dr. Stresemann as saying in a speech at Würzburg that the reichstag majority resolution in favor of peace was a tactical error and that "in common with the overwhelming majority of my party I consider every resolution having in view peace at the present time as unjustifiable in view of the war situation as it now stands."

Dr. Stresemann's annexation program, as gathered from the speech, aims chiefly toward the east.

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS ON ALL BATTLE FRONTS

FRENCH FRONT

PARIS, Nov. 25.—In the region to the north of the Chemin des Dames and northwest of Reims there has been marked activity by the two armies. On the right bank of the Meuse we carried out this afternoon some operations of detail to the north of Hill 244. Along a front of two miles, between Samogneux and the region to the south of the Anglemont farm, our troops captured the first and second German lines and also some deep dugouts organized by the enemy on the slopes to the south of the ravine in the Caurieres wood. Thus far we have counted more than 800 prisoners.

In the Vosges a surprise attack against one of our small posts in the sector of Sondernach, southwest of Munster, failed.

On the east of the front there is nothing to report.

DAY REPORT.

Northwest of Reims two attacks on our advance posts failed.

On the right bank of the Meuse, after the violent bombardment which was reported yesterday, the Germans hurled partial attacks at several points along the front. North of Hill 244 there was an especially strong struggle in which hand grenades were used, and it ended to our advantage. The enemy suffered severe losses without obtaining any ground and leaving prisoners in our hands.

Before Beaumont and on the front of the Champs wood our fire prevented the enemy from approaching our lines. The night was calm on the rest of the front.

BRITISH.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Fighting in and about Bourlon wood continued yesterday afternoon and evening with great stubbornness on both sides, the enemy counter attacking several times.

On Friday night strong hostile counter attacks forced our troops back from Bourlon village, which we had entered on our first advance, and in the early morning of Saturday a powerful attack delivered by the enemy further to the east pressed us back a short distance on the hill in Bourlon wood.

Later in the morning a successful counter attack by our troops drove the enemy from the hill and before midday we had reestablished our lines on the northern edge of Bourlon wood.

Fighting continued during the afternoon and at dusk the enemy again attacked with strong forces from the northeast, forcing our troops back slightly in the northeastern corner of the wood.

Early in the night our troops again attacked and reentered Bourlon village, capturing it after a fierce struggle, in which parties of the enemy offered obstinate resistance in strong points in the village.

Bourlon village and practically the whole of Bourlon wood, including all the high ground within it, now are in our possession.

In the course of these operations English, Welsh, and Scottish battalions, assisted by dismounted cavalry, displayed the utmost courage and tenacity both in attack and defense.

NIGHT REPORT.

There has again been severe fighting

THE FIGHT FOR CAMBRAI

1—Berlin reports successful counter attack by German troops on Bourlon village, west of Cambrai. This action was timed as of Saturday night. The report also states four fruitless attacks were launched by the British on the village of Inchy, west of Bourlon.

2—London reports British have re-established their lines on northern edge of Bourlon wood, giving them possession of the entire district, including the village of Bourlon. This report deals with fighting later than records from Berlin.

today west of Cambrai. At midday the enemy strongly attacked the positions we held in the neighborhood of Bourlon and succeeded in pressing back our troops from portions of the village. Our positions in Bourlon wood and on the high ground are intact.

Fighting also occurred in the Hindenburg support line west of Moeuvres, where we captured prisoners. The number of prisoners taken since the commencement of our operations on the morning of Nov. 20 now has reached a total of 9,774, including 182 officers.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht. In Flanders the artillery duel increased in the afternoon between Houtholst wood and Zandvoorde. An English advance at the Ypres-Menin road failed.

On the battlefield southwest of Cambrai there were violent but locally limited engagements of German, in several sectors in the Champagne, and on the eastern bank of the Meuse.

The English brought up strong forces in fresh attacks against Inchy. Thick waves of infantry stormed prison east of Beaumont; our storming troops broke in numerous prisoners. Army group of Duke Albrecht: East of St. Mihiel and especially in the Soudgau there was intense artillery and mine throwing fire. In Apremont wood and near Amersweiler strong French thrusts were repulsed.

BEIGIAN.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Belgian communication: During the night of Nov. 23-24 enemy reconnoitering parties which were trying to approach one of our small posts in the region of Kippe and also our bridgehead south of Dixmude were completely scattered by our fire. During the day of the 24th-25th slight artillery activity prevailed.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

ROME, Nov. 25.—On the Asiago plateau heroic parties of our first army, who for ten days, uninterruptedly and without yielding a yard of ground, have been fighting for the defense of the strong points of Moletta, yesterday again repulsed several furious enemy attacks and counterattacked with success. Two sections of machine guns were captured.

On the rest of the front there were only artillery actions.

Near Monte Grappa two enemy airplanes were brought down by one of our airmen.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Italian attacks on both sides of the Brenta valley and against Monte Patrica collapsed before our lines.

RUSSIAN FRONT

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, via London, Nov. 25.—Lively fusillades occurred in the direction of Jacobstadt, where a strong fire was opened by the Germans. On the western, southwestern, and Romanian fronts there were fusillades and sniping reconnaissance.

Battle sea.—The situation is unchanged.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Eastern theater.—There was nothing special to report.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Army of the east.—There has been a heavy cannonade by both sides toward Mayadag and west of Monastir. In the direction of Kastali, to the west of Lake Doiran, a strong enemy detachment, after violent artillery preparation with gas shells, made an attack which failed. Some prisoners remained in the hands of the British.

SUPPLEMENTARY

GERMAN.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 25.—In Flanders and southwest of Cambrai there was lively firing activity in several of the sectors.

On the eastern bank of the Meuse French attacks are in progress between Samogneux and Beaumont. Italian front.—Successful fighting occurred between the Brenta and Piave rivers.

DRAFT CARD AID TO ARRESTS FOR THEFT OF AUTOS

A draft registration card furnished the clue which led to the arrest of two young men now in cells at the Sheffield avenue police station, charged with stealing automobiles.

Morris Olson, 3715 North Long avenue and Elwyn Barton of 1248 Diversey parkway are the prisoners. If the former had not displayed his blue card, on which his name and address appeared, to a junk dealer to whom he wanted to sell the wreckage of one of the stolen cars, both probably would be enjoying liberty today.

Detective Sergeant Robert Moffatt, who arrested them at their homes, says they sold machines belonging to the following:

E. Harrison, 338 North Leominster avenue. Samuel Ellison, 4005 Southport avenue. Edward Gordon, 1707 Belle Plaine avenue.

The young men will be arraigned today in the Boys' court on charges of larceny.

BALK TETANUS VACCINE PLOT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Department of justice agents and government chemists, it is reported, have frustrated an attempt to create an epidemic of tetanus in the national army. Vaccine points coated with tetanus germs, it is said, were the instruments used in the poison plot. Of 500,000 points sent out by one firm, approximately 200,000 went to the war department. It is alleged, for use in vaccinating men in the national army. To date no deaths have been reported, although a large quantity of the points were used.

Dr. Rupert Ellie of the public health service declared today that from analysis tests which had been made with the vaccine points nothing definite had been established.

"No cases of tetanus have been directly traced to this special lot of vaccine points," Dr. Ellie said. "Our analysis so far has shown no extraneous organism in the preparation, though the issue may have been contaminated."

HOMES A-JUMBLE IN WASHINGTON; SOCIETY PROFITS

Many Rent Residences at Good Gain to Members of War Missions.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Every man's castle is the other man's home in Washington just now, where the most prominent and wealthy members of the more or less permanent population are combining their efforts with southern hospitality and renting their houses at war time prices to the strangers within the gates who have come to help win the war.

Socially speaking, it is an embarrassment, because house addresses and telephone numbers are so thoroughly shuffled that an invitation to an afternoon tea addressed to what has ever been known to the hostess as the private residence of a friend, is quite as likely to be days late in finding the owner, who may be and generally is living in an apartment this winter, or "traveling in the south," or "spending the winter in California," while her one time home houses several members of one of the war missions.

Harvest for Realty Men.
But the real estate agents are reaping a golden harvest. Professionally they are on a financial standpoint, they have no reason whatever at present to agree with Gen. Sherman.

Among the houses which have changed hands at the rate of $300 or more a month are:
Twin Oaks, the home of Charles J. Bell, which is now occupied by Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the war council of the Red Cross.

Oak Lawn, owned by C. C. Glover Jr., and now the home of Frank S. Peabody of Chicago, who is directing the administration of the explosives storage act.

The home of R. S. Reynolds Hitt, in Eighteenth street, which has been leased to Bernard M. Baruch of New York, now serving on the war industries committee of the Council of National Defense.

The Adams house, in Massachusetts avenue, which has been taken by Herbert C. Hoover, national food administrator.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell Carroll, which is sheltering four members of the British war mission.

Logan Home Leased.
Mr. John A. Logan has leased Eagle Lodge, in Thirteenth street, to Mr. and Mrs. James Kavanaugh of New York, and will reopen this winter his home in Calumet place, which was occupied by William Jennings Bryan during his service as secretary of state. Mr. Kavanaugh is associated in war work with Frank A. Vanderlip, who has taken for the winter the Rhode Island avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. William Littauer.

The sixteenth street residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Howard has been leased to Walter M. Jefferson of Philadelphia, a member of the Council of National Defense, and the Howards have taken the Massachusetts avenue house occupied last year by Capt. Dalmat, naval attaché of the Argentine embassy.

Ralph Thomas, secretary of the temporary British embassy staff, has taken for the season the Seventeenth street house of Capt. and Mrs. H. N. Cootes, and Mrs. Cootes will spend the winter in Norfolk.

Shane Leslie, a nephew of Lady Randolph Churchill, who married Miss Ide, daughter of the former United States minister to Spain and a sister of Mrs. W. Bourke Cockran of New York, has taken the De Fries Critten house in Leroy place. Mrs. Leslie spent several winters in Washington prior to her marriage. Mrs. Critten and her daughter will spend the winter in California.

A FUGITIVE

Daughter of Former Czar, Who Escaped Russia by Bogus Marriage and Is Coming to United States.

So will Mrs. Alexander Stewart, who has leased her Massachusetts avenue house to Representative and Mrs. Alden Tufts of Massachusetts, and Dr. and Mrs. W. Duncan McKim, who have rented their house in Eighteenth street to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rogers of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick Blair of Chicago are occupying the Wyoming avenue house of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Jones, who have taken a house in Sixteenth street for the winter.

Take Cushman Residence.
Mr. and Mrs. William M. Elkins of Philadelphia have taken the Allerton Cushman house in Sixteenth street and Mrs. Elkins formerly of Cleveland, are making their home at 1830 Connecticut avenue. Mr. Elkins, who is a son of the former ambassador to France, is connected with the food commission.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to Germany, and Mrs. Hill have leased the residence of Col. and Mrs. George M. Dunn in Rhode Island avenue; Peter Goelet Gerry, junior senator from Rhode Island, and Mrs. Gerry formerly Miss Mathilde Townsend, have taken the Henry White house in Crescent place, where the French commission to the United States and George D. Widener of Philadelphia, Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, head of the shipping board, Winthrop Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and Robert A. Taft Jr.

Folk Leases His Home.
Former Gov. Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, who is now chief counsel for the interstate commerce commission, has leased his house in Leroy place to William Frew and moved into an apartment in Sixteenth street.

Other Washington homes are occupied this winter by Rodman Wana-maker and George D. Widener of Philadelphia, Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, head of the shipping board, Winthrop Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and Robert A. Taft Jr.

ITALIANS RAISE $284 BY PARADE FOR AMBULANCE

Report $475 Pledged in Memory of Garibaldi.

The north side Italian colony yesterday responded nobly to the movement to raise a fund for the Giuseppe Garibaldi ambulance for the Italian front, and as a result of a parade in the morning $284.13 was collected by young Italian girls of the neighborhood. This money will be turned over to THE TRIBUNE and will go to the fund of the "American Poets' Ambulances in Italy."

The parade started at the Eli Bates settlement house, 821 West Elm street, and continued through the various north side streets. Headed by a brass band, about 150 men and women took part. Each marcher carried a flag, and directly following the band were two color bearers carrying the Stars and Stripes and the Italian flag. Pretty girls walked on each side of the marchers and collected coins from the crowd. Pennies, nickels, and dimes made up the greater part of the collection, although a few $1 bills and half dollar pieces were in evidence.

"In addition to the collection this morning, we have direct pledges of $475 toward the Garibaldi ambulance fund and indirect pledges of $300," said Dr. C. F. Leavitt, in charge of the arrangements, yesterday. "We are making arrangements to hold a similar parade next Sunday to 'cover' the streets we did not visit today."

MRS. MATTERS' MARRIAGE WON'T AFFECT ESTATE

Mrs. Anna Dollie Ledgerwood Matters' elopement to Crown Point with Edward Fetter on Saturday night can have no effect on the famous baby case, according to Attorney Robert P. Burkhalter, who represented the other heirs.

"When the case was settled Mrs. Matters received one-third of the estate," Mr. Burkhalter said. "She has about $35,000 more coming."

Mrs. Matters three years ago was married at Crown Point to Fred Matters, for whose estate she fought a sensational legal battle. She claimed the son of Margaret Ryan of Ottawa, Canada, as her own. Judge Landis decided against Mrs. Matters, though she was freed of criminal charges in a sensational trial.

NATIONAL AIR LEADS CONCERT OF TURNGEMEINDE

"The Star Spangled Banner," printed in black type and at the head of the list of selections for the afternoon, was featured yesterday at the concert at North Side Turner hall given by the Martin Ballman orchestra. The concert was under the auspices of the Chicago Turngemeinde.

However, it was "World's Peace," an original composition by Mr. Ballman, which received three encores. One soldier in uniform was in the audience, but the American flag had been omitted from the hall's decorations. There was only scattered applause as the auditors took their seats at the close of the national anthem, which was not included in the concert a week ago.

MAN IN MATSON CASE CONFESSES NAMING DOCTOR

Coroner Summons Staff of Hospital to Explain Girl's Death.

After an inquiry which lasted into the early hours of yesterday morning, Coroner Hoffman announced he had obtained a complete confession from Charles Moorehouse, the "friend" of Ellen Matson, who died on Nov. 18 at the West End hospital at 2088 West Monroe street, as a result of an alleged illegal operation. The coroner announced that several persons, both men and women, would be held to strict accountability for their connection with the case.

According to the coroner Moorehouse, who has a wife and child "somewhere in the United States," admitted he was the cause of the girl's trouble and directly accused Dr. Lillian Heyworth Hobbs-Seymour, who six months ago was convicted of murder by an illegal operation and who is out on bond, pending appeal of the case, as the one who performed the operation.

Hospital Staff Under Fire.
Coroner Hoffman also said that he was not satisfied the way the case was handled by the hospital management and unless every one connected with the hospital staff who handled the case "came clean" he would make an example of the hospital.

The coroner has ordered the following to appear at his office this morning to explain:
Dr. Benjamin H. Brakston, and Dr. Jacob K. Meyer, joint owners of the hospital; Miss Julia Terry, the nurse who attended Miss Matson, and who has since resigned her position.

Dr. H. E. Nelson, the head interne; Mrs. Emma Matson, mother of the girl; Mrs. Guille Matson, an aunt with whom the girl lived; and Mabel Matson, a sister.

Says Relatives Lied.
"I have absolute proof now that Mrs. Matson, Mrs. Guille Matson, Mabel Matson and Moorehouse all perjured themselves when they took the stand at the inquest," said Coroner Hoffman, "and unless they now tell me the truth it will go hard with them."

Moorehouse told me that the last of October he learned of Miss Matson's condition and took her to Dr. E. E. Gardner. An examination was made and the doctor gave the girl some pills. A second visit was paid to the doctor, and she was given more pills. Moorehouse then asked Dr. Gardner if he would perform an operation on the girl. The doctor refused, but referred Moorehouse to Dr. Lillian Heyworth Hobbs-Seymour of 4035 Indiana avenue.

Moorehouse said he and the girl went there, and he waited outside.

MAN SHORTAGE? U. S. OUSTS GIRL, MAN GETS JOB

Princeton, Ill., Nov. 25.—Citizens of this community are incensed over the federal government's treatment of Miss Edith Strand, a Princeton girl, who stepped into the gap as a rural mail carrier here on route 6 when her brother enlisted in the U. S. army. She was then discharged after two months' service to make room for a man.

The Strand family, in moderate circumstances, consisted of father, mother, daughter, and two sons. One of the sons enlisted in June and is now in France. The mother is confined in a hospital at Watertown. An accident to the father late in the summer incapacitated him for labor. The other son, Harry, who was the regular carrier on route 6 out of Princeton, wanted to enlist.

He told Postmaster R. L. Russell that his sister was willing to take over the mail route and thus enable her brother to enlist. To this Mr. Russell consented, and Harry enlisted Sept. 6.

On Oct. 6 Postmaster Russell received a communication from the fourth assistant postmaster general approving the appointment. On Nov. 5 an order came from the same source rescinding the order and instructing Mr. Russell to appoint a man. Following protests, the girl was put back on the route, but discharged the next day on orders from Washington.

ASK WOMEN TO ADOPT BELGIAN WAR PRISONERS

Announcement of a state organization for the relief of Belgian soldiers interned in German prison camps was made yesterday at a tea given by the Playgoers' Club of Chicago at the Hotel La Salle.

Mrs. Mary Reid Cory of New York, executive field organizer for the American committee for the relief of Belgian prisoners in Germany, outlined the plans of the committee and announced the appointment of Mrs. Samuel S. Hutchinson of Chicago as chairman of the Illinois division of the league.

Members of the league, as they are recruited, will pledge themselves to adopt some Belgian prisoner for a period of six months, and to contribute $3 a month, to be used to send packages to the prisoner similar to the gift boxes being sent to American soldiers in France. It is planned to distribute through the Belgian Red Cross two packages a month to 40,000 prisoners.

Saves for Winter Coat All Summer; Loses Money
All summer Miss Sadie Kennedy of 2329 Fulton street had skimmed and saved to buy herself a winter coat. She had the money in her purse yesterday when she boarded a south-bound Kedzie avenue car at Fulton street. She dropped the purse, and a man picked it up and got off the car before she had noticed the loss.

AGAINST LOWER COMMUTATION

FARES.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am a commuter and have railroad stock, but still I am not in favor of the movement now on foot to secure lower commutation rates.

Present rates are not excessive, figures on a mileage basis, and it is a question whether the suburban passenger business is much of a money maker for the railroads when terminal costs and all things are considered. Anyway, railroad stocks on the down grade is no time to ask for decrease of rates in any kind of transportation service. The passenger must have transportation at the highest grade in this country at times, and especially during the war.

In order to have that kind of service the railroads must make money. I would like to see their net earnings increase instead of diminishing as they are present. Small profits hurt sometimes the twelve million people in the United States who are railroad employees, stockholders. But, worse than this, it lowers the efficiency of the service.

FARMERS, MAKE YOUR OWN SOAP.

Chicago, Mo., Nov. 19.—[Editor of Tribune.]—You have an editorial in which you warn us to be careful of soap, or we will, before the winter is over, be using sandpaper instead of soap. When I was a boy, growing up on the farm, all the farmers' wives made their own soap, and it was as good as any of the grocery store variety today. If this winter, at hog killing time, the farmers' wives will only throw away the scraps of meat and fat they throw away, with the aid of some ashes and a box of lye, they can make a soft soap enough to last them till killing time next year.

It will not only give them a good soap for their own use, but this kind of soap will be worth much to the country. In my work, which takes me among the farmers a good deal, I do not see much effort on their part to serve food or anything else. The government's food conservation movement needs to be waged in the country.

Waste is more prevalent than in the city.

RECRUITING OF GOOD FELLOWS STARTS TODAY

Offices Open and Call to Rally Behind Santa Is Sounded.

The mobilization orders are out. All Good Fellows are called to arms. Chicago must be made safe for the Christmas spirit.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning the Good Fellow department will open its doors for the 1917 enrollment. Start the day right. Four weeks from tomorrow is Christmas, and if you want to get that indescribable thrill of pleasure that comes to the Good Fellow on Christmas eve, after he has unloaded his bundles on the red cotton tablecloth of the family of poor children, fill in the blank. Send it to the Good Fellow headquarters, 1106 Tribune building.

Or grab a telephone and call Central 100. Say you'll be a Good Fellow to a family that needs you. You can take your pick of children—any race, any creed, any color, any nationality, freckles or clear, active or invalid. Name the kind you want. Name the locality in which you want them. The Tribune will tell you where to go and will give you the names and the ages of the children.

Remember that children smile at poverty 364 days a year. But on Christmas the heart of a child burns with disappointment at the sight of a toyless stocking. The home of children that Santa Claus has missed finds Christmas the bitterest day of the year.

Lots of Good Fellows are needed. Fathers and brothers have enlisted. The cost of living has doubled. It's hard to buy bread. It's impossible, in thousands of homes, to buy toys. You may have given to the tobacco fund or bought Christmas kits for the soldiers. There have been numerous war calls upon your generosity. But you must not permit that to cancel your Good Fellow responsibility. Don't send money. Make this Good Fellow responsibility wholly personal between yourself and your poor family. It will cost you a little. But that will be more than repaid when you see the joy in the face of an invalid child who has longed all her life for the doll you have brought, or hear the shout of glee of the small boy whose dream of heaven is fulfilled by that train of cars.

Win a Mother's Thanks. And there's another and a different thrill when a mother who knows all too well what Christmas without Santa Claus means to her children, gives her grateful thanks and says: "God bless you."

Impart a little of your own Christmas to the child who must otherwise wake to a mournful Christmas morning. Dec. 25 will be a happier holiday for it. Your own children will think you a much more admirable dad or mother when you tell them you have sent Santa Claus to some poor kids who were going to be forgotten.

As the first Good Fellow said, the children you know may not care a great deal for a 25 cent doll. But to thousands of others it means all the difference between utter disappointment and the joy that Santa Claus came—that he did not forget them this Christmas.

So fill out the blank. Go in the front ranks of Good Fellowship. Enlist today.

BURR OAK COTTAGES RAIDED. Policemen of Burr Oak raided two cottages in the rear of the notorious Burr Oak Inn Saturday and arrested two women and three men. The raid followed complaints made by residents of the district of riotous conduct in the cottages. The inn was closed some time ago.

GOOD FELLOWS!

Here's a Form for You to Fill Out—It Will Aid You in Stating Your Plans for Helping the Poor Kids.

If you will be a Good Fellow on Christmas to some family of poor children in Chicago, please fill out the attached blank and send it to "The Tribune," Good Fellow department:

I live at No. _____ street. I will be Santa Claus to _____ children (as many as you wish). Please give me the names of children in _____ (State what section of city you prefer to have assigned to you).

TURKEY AND ALL THE FIXIN'S FOR ROCKFORD BOYS

Thanksgiving Menu for Men of the 343d
Infantry.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., Nov. 25. (Special.)—"Turkey and everything." That's what the boys of Camp Grant exclaimed today when they saw the first of the Thanksgiving menus one officially approved for the Three Hundred and Forty-third Infantry by its commander, Col. Charles R. Howland.

The day, of course, will be a holiday, but the indications are that only a few short passes will be issued to those men who can return in the evening.

A Typical Menu.

But the answer to the question whether the men will miss their Thanksgiving dinners is in Col. Howland's menu. It follows:

Roast turkey, sage dressing.
Chicken soup.
Cranberry sauce, candied yams.
Mashed potatoes.
Cider.
Baked corn, Kentucky style.
Lettuce and tomato salad.
English plum pudding with hard sauce.
Pumpkin pie, mince pie.
Cakes.
Fruit.
Cocoa.
Cheese and crackers.
Oliges.

Roundup Show.

Visitors today were thrilled to a roundup show given by the western broncho busters who are working at the remount station. "The Buckaroo Kid" broke a fighting gray mule and won a match race on his own mount. "Flying Filver," "Texas Jim" Leardo conquered an unruly broncho that pitched and tossed all over the place. "Cherokee Bill" Breden and John Crow Horse, a Crow Indian, also showed their horsemanship.

The Thirty-third field artillery band played, and a football game followed. The remount officer said another show will be staged next week.

On Friday morning, after breakfast, the "O. B. O." company will play at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

Cavalry Officers Transferred. Some of the sixty men commissioned in the cavalry at the first Fort Sheridan training camp were disappointed today by an order transferring them, with five exceptions, to the infantry. The five others were shifted to artillery. They were Capt. Roy N. McKorcher, Capt. Charles Powers, Lieut. E. F. Luna, Lieut. Stephen R. Howe, and Lieut. W. O. Merrill.

Among the men shifted are Maj. Frederick McLaughlin, Maj. Carlos Ames, Capt. E. A. Cudaby Jr., Lieut. Wayne Chaffield-Taylor, Lieut. D. R. Forgan Jr., Lieut. L. F. Swift Jr., and Lieut. W. L. Velle. Most of them since their arrival here have been with machine gun battalions. The new order indicates they will remain in that branch.

In a jitney accident last night, Lieut. Shirley W. Holmes, Company C, Three Hundred and Forty-first infantry, was bruised on the shoulder and face. He is in the base hospital.

fore He Goes.

Houston, Tex., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Rumors of the movements of the troops from Camp Logan have brought innumerable parents and friends of the boys to Houston.

Most of the people who have come have been those who had ample means to make the trip. One case was brought to public notice today that shows the danger of rumors. It is the case of a Mrs. Amelia Walsterhausen-Haupt, 1143 Wells street, Chicago.

George Walsterhausen-Haupt is a member of Company C, One Hundred and Thirty-first infantry. He arrived in Camp Logan from Camp Grant only a few days ago. Last Wednesday some "kind friend" informed Mrs. Walsterhausen-Haupt that her son was to be sent to France before he could reach him. She left immediately for Houston without telling any one and arrived here Friday without any money. The Y. M. C. A. found a place for her and took care of her.

When his mother arrived George was on the rifle range with his company. He could not come in. Today he came and the greeting was pathetic.

In the meantime the police as well as the friends of the boy's mother are probably looking for her. The meeting here will clear up that mystery but it does not clear up the damages done by false and unfounded rumors.

Andrew Carnegie Passes
Eighty-second Milestone

New York, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Andrew Carnegie caught up with and passed another milestone—his eighty-second—today in his journey toward the century, the goal he set several years ago as the minimum limit of his earthly pilgrimage. He was showered with telegrams from all parts of the country, his old Pennsylvania, co-workers being particularly generous with messages.

LET THEIR LIES BE LAID BARE TO PUBLIC'S SCORN

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—"Organize a local chapter of the War Ananias club, nominate for membership every man and woman in your community who is circulating malicious rumors and repeating false reports that tend to cast suspicion and distrust upon our government and thus hamper the successful prosecution of the war."

This is the message today being sent out by the national committee of patriotic societies through its honorary chairman, Lieut. Gen. S. B. M. Young and William Mather Lewis, executive secretary, to the loyal citizens of every city and village in the United States.

It further suggests that a membership list be posted on some conspicuous corner, and that the stories and names of their narrators be sent to the local newspapers and to the headquarters of the national committee in Washington.

Tales from All Quarters. "Americans boast of a sense of humor and a lack of gullibility which should make them proof against the German inspired lies now being so persistently circulated," the committee says. "From every corner of the country come tales that prominent government officials have been shot as spies at Fort Leavenworth that our soldiers at the cantonments must buy their own food or starve to death; that the government officials are about to raid home kitchens and commandeer the food."

"It is whispered about that an American battleship has been sunk with all on board and that the navy department is suppressing the news; that hundreds of wounded American soldiers have been stealthily landed in New York; that the execution of soldiers is part of the daily routine in our camps."

"High Time to Act." "It is high time that Americans who lay claim to the slightest patriotism should challenge the truthfulness of these tales, and nail lies so hard that they will not again be repeated. Every member of the war Ananias club is sticking a knife into the back of some American soldier. Every American who is afraid to drag a member of this traitorous organization into the light of public condemnation should drape a yellow emblem over his door."

MRS. DE SAULLES TO TAKE STAND IN TRIAL TODAY

New York, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Tomorrow is Blanca De Saulles' big day, the most important of her twenty-three years. For with her life at stake, and largely dependent upon the impression she makes with the twelve middle aged family men in the jury box, she is to take the witness stand in her own behalf.

It is all very well for those conducting her defense to say that the "unwritten law" is not to be invoked; that sentiment and sympathy are not being called upon; that Blanca's cause is to rest solely upon the contention that she was, at the moment she killed John Longer De Saulles of Yale and Broadway, irresponsible because of "hysteria" and a bone pressure on her brain.

She was visited in the warden's suite at the Mineola jail by her mother, Senora Vergara Errazuriz, and her sister, Senorita Amalia Errazuriz.

If the frail little defendant stands the strain she probably will be on the stand all day.

PLEA OF WOUNDED TOMMY: "DO WE GO TO 'BLIGHTY'?"

Chicago Boy Writes of the Work at Base Hospital in France.

Following are extracts from letters from Schuyler C. Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Graves, 5340 Hyde Park boulevard. Mr. Graves is in the service of Base Hospital No. 12, composed of Chicago men and women, and is located back of the British troops in France.

"SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Oct. 7.—Dear Mother and Father: Our trip over was not very exciting, as we had little or no trouble with the 'subs.' Where we went and how, I am unable to tell you, but we have been under very ever since I wrote you that card telling you not to write me any more at New York. We are now at the end of our journey, at Base 12. The country here is beautiful, but it has rained every day since we arrived. It does so most of the time, they tell me. The villages are very quaint, as you would suppose. The work is hard and the 'grub' good. I just had a meal that was fit for a king.

"This is Sunday and I am writing this in the Church of England's rest rooms and canteen. It is bitterly cold here and worse at night, but we keep warm somehow. Our clothes are all right for the climate, so don't worry about the cold. You have seen the big coat we wear, in Chicago, on the other troops.

"I am on duty in a light surgical ward. That is what they call it here. It is quite hard, as most of the cases are amputations or bad wounds in the head, arms, or legs. We have one young lad with his arm blown all to pieces. The bone sticks out four inches apart and the wound is fully a foot long and as wide as his arm. He is only 19 and is quite 'sore' if you don't call him a man. Another case: One could stick your fist in a hole in his forehead. It is very touching to hear them ask, as they all do, if they go to 'Blighty' for home in England from here. It is the first thing they say when they come in. Most of the poor lads in our ward do go home, if they don't die here.

"SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Oct. 28.—Dear Mother: We have been very busy or I would have written more often. The mails from America have been coming in poorly, but I get a letter from you about once a week. I expect we will get a bunch of mail in a little while. The papers have been coming in quite regularly, a month old, but interesting.

"We are located near several French villages where we have quite a lot of fun when we have any spare time in the evening. One can buy most anything around here except sugar.

"I can talk quite well with the French people. My French is not perfectly grammatical, but is understood. The old people are hard to understand, as they speak like grunted lightning.

"The time goes so fast here that you cannot figure time at all. We are always here in the daytime. The camp is divided into squads and about two nights a week our squad carries

SHRAPNEL
The Rev. W. C. Covert, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. C. F. Wisbart, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, left last evening for San Francisco for religious work in the army camps of the Pacific coast. Their assignment is for one month. The Rev. Frank R. Elder of the First United Presbyterian church will leave this week, and the Rev. E. B. Robb, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, left last Tuesday for similar work among the southern camps.

Praise for the Jolly Tars' club, established in Waukegan by the Illinois Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' association, of which Mrs. Mary Lewis Longworthy of River Forest is president, is contained in a report which has been made for the war registration service by Miss Mary Wood Haskins. The club is maintained for the use of the youths in training at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

Horace S. Baker, assistant city engineer of Chicago, who has been constructing quartermaster in charge of the construction of Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, Tex., has now finished his work and has received the commission of lieutenant colonel of the One Hundred and Eleventh engineers, stationed at Fort Worth. He lives at 6657 Greenview avenue, Rogers Park.

The convicts of wounded men coming in. (My hands are a little cold and it is hard to write.) These convicts may last two hours or all night. The next day you go on with your regular work, and if you are tired, it doesn't make any difference, but we go to bed all other nights at 9 p. m. and rise at 6, so that we get plenty of sleep.

"SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Nov. 1.—Dear Mother and Father: We had two football games, one in which we (the Quarters) beat Bobbie Kahn's Sanitary Squad team, 12-6. Bobbie was a star on the University of Chicago last year. The other game was 0-0 tie with the orderlies. Hanish, the Chicago university back, was on the orderlies' team. Believe me it was some fight. I sprained my wrist a little, but it is all right now.

"Don't worry about all the talk about the Germans dropping bombs over the hospital. Their airplanes do come over and our anti-aircraft guns take a shot at them and miss. The 'duds,' or dead shells, fall around here, but they never hit any one, and there is nothing to worry about.

"SCHUTLER."

Northwestern Co-eds Hike to Town for Slimness

Northwestern co-eds have taken to long hikes to produce "that attractive slimmness" so much coveted by every woman. Ten of them yesterday walked from Evanston to the loop in Chicago and back again. They started at 5:45 in the morning and got back home at 3 in the afternoon.

Among those who took the hike are the Misses Gladys Hayes, Margaret Trimble, Katherine Stover, Carol Cotton, Mabel Eichorn, Vida Robertson, Martha McLaine, Lucille Folkers, and Florence Grantland.

"If we can't get slim by walking," said one, "we'll certainly do it by dieting. We never even stopped for dinner—so interested were we in our walk."

Attorney for the Fox Film corporation will ask an injunction in the United States district court today restraining Major Funt from making other disclosures from interfering with the exhibition of "The Rose of Blood," which depicts a series of Russian revolutions.

THE OLD ORDER PASSES; A NEW DAY IS UPON US

H. M. Ashton Tells Public Ownership League a New Era Looms.

Henry M. Ashton, addressing the convention of the Public Ownership League of America at the Hotel La Salle yesterday, rejoiced over the war, pestilence, and famine, and said he hoped the world would have more of it until the Kaiser had been banished from the face of the earth.

"Of course, this war is terrible," he said, "but it is also great—great for humanity, for the generations yet to come. Why? Mr. Stedman and his short-sighted followers among the Socialists, are going around with long faces, waiting and weeping and wanting to stop it. I can't understand them. In the last six months the world has done more for the world in America—to make public ownership of everything of a utility and food nature actually into the hands of the people, than could have been accomplished in a hundred years of peace.

Public Ownership Near.
"Public ownership is here today as it never was before, and it's only begun. Take up the newspapers any morning and what do you see? The government—the people—fixing the fair price of things the people eat and wear and the things they need to keep

WOMEN ELIGIBLE

League to Enforce Peace Will Permit Them to Become Members.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Women will be admitted to the executive committee of the league to enforce peace for the first time since its organization, more than two years ago, it was announced here today. Members of the league declared that the purpose is to obtain the advice and assistance of prominent women, especially in the states where women vote, in its campaign against a premature peace.

"The speakers' bureau of the league in a report stated that during the last summer proposals of the league favoring the most vigorous prosecution of the war and assuring the future safety of the world through the establishment of a league of nations were presented in 2,578 chautauqua circuits before an aggregated audience of almost 4,000,000 persons, and that this winter 300 lyceum speakers will bring the league's message to 15,000,000 persons.

war. I say it's glorious. "The most roseate dream of the solid Socialists is coming true every day, and it is only the foolish leaders among them that will not admit it. I am not so much interested in socialism, but the progress the human race has made in the last six months is great. I feel like shouting and cheering. The old order passes. The kings depart. The new day is upon us, and they who don't see it either are ignorant or deliberate misrepresentatives of the people."

"The strongest influence against it is the unpopularity of the present city administration," he said. "The position of Mayor Thompson on the war, the fact that his chief of police is being tried, the troubles of his school board—these and other things have all operated to discourage the public on the question of municipal ownership. "We must have the national ownership of railways," Prof. Zuehlke declared. "The problem of the day is organization. The essence is ownership is organization. We have no time today for the legal formality of ownership, but we must have immediate national control. Germany has national operation, has strategic organization of her roads. We have needless duplication, competition between men who should be co-operating."

The Night Session.
At last night's session Dr. E. W. Bernis, former traction and gas expert of Chicago, spoke on "From Regulation to Municipal Ownership." He predicted the ideal of public ownership of utilities and warned against paying inflated prices for such utilities. R. B. Howell, commissioner of public works of Omaha, spoke on "Municipal Water Works." James B. Balch, mayor of Kalamazoo, under whom a municipal coal yard has been successfully established, spoke on "Municipal Fuel Yards." and Theodore F. Thome, Indianapolis, spoke on "Public Utilities in Their Relation to City Government."

During the afternoon session an address by Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, who was unable to be present in person, was read by Carl D. Thompson, the subject being "The Public Ownership of Land" and dealing largely with forest and mineral conservation. Dr. Delos F. Wilcox of New York spoke on "Financial and Administrative Preparation for Municipal Ownership." Dr. Charles Susan of Boston spoke at the morning session on the railroad problem in Scotland, and Albert M. Todd of Kalamazoo, president of the organization, described the operations of street railways in Glasgow under municipal ownership.

Former Gov. Dunne will deliver an address on the history of the public ownership movement in Chicago and Illinois at the session this afternoon.

WOMAN KILLED BY GAS.
Mrs. Susan Culand, 55 years old, was asphyxiated by gas in her home, at 1109 Wells street, yesterday morning. Police think her death was accidental.

WHITE WILL CITE GRAFT RIVALRY AT HEALEY TRIAL

"Inside" Witness to Bare Alleged Bureau Which Opposed Chief.

Disclosure of the personnel of the West Side police graft ring which operated in opposition to the collection syndicate to which former Chief of Police Charles C. Healey is alleged to have belonged, is promised this week in the Healey-Barry-Skidmore graft trial in Judge Skidmore's court.

The witness who is expected to relate the facts concerning the rival "police fixing" bureau is Police Lieut. Martin White. He was arrested when the state's attorney's forces raided the office of Thomas Costello last Jan. 10 and later with Costello confessed to Mr. Hoynes and told the inside story of the vice protection syndicate which resulted in the indictment of the former head of the police department.

It is alleged that in addition to sitting in the councils of the Costello-Healey-Skidmore coterie, White had access to the inner circle of the rival organization, said to have been controlled by well known West Side politicians.

White Listed "Prospects."
It was White that prepared the list of some fifty resorts and hotels that are declared to have paid protection money to the political syndicate under the impression that they were purchasing police immunity. White turned over this list to Costello and he in turn gave it to the former chief.

At the suggestion of Costello, the former chief planned to send the list to State's Attorney Hoynes as a peace offering to the prosecutor and to convince Mr. Hoynes that the police department was willing to furnish evidence against resorts and shady hotels operating in violation of the law. Four days after the list fell into the hands of the state's attorney, Costello conducted the raid which resulted in the capture of Costello, White, William Skidmore, and "Mike de Pike" Heiler while they were in the act of "splitting" alleged bribe collections.

Third Stage of Trial.
The state will start this week on the third stage of its program in the prosecution of former Chief of Police Healey and his two co-defendants. That phase is planned to connect the former chief, William R. Skidmore, and Detective Stephen J. Barry directly with graft collections from resorts and gambling houses.

The preliminary evidence leading up to this phase of the state's case is virtually in the record. It included as the first step testimony to controvert the claims of the defense opening statement that the entire case against the defendants was "framed" by former Police Capt. Nicholas Hunt and "Mike de Pike" Heiler, former levee boss.

The second step was the introduction of testimony to show that the resorts and gambling houses were running in flagrant violation of the law while the former chief was in office.

As its initial evidence to connect the former chief with the actual operations of the illegal places, the state will present testimony concerning transfers of police commanding officers made by Mr. Healey.

Peter Angelo, west side saloonkeeper and a state's witness, is under arrest in Buffalo, where he fled after being indicted for payment of graft money. He jumped his bond of $25,000. Assistant State's Attorney Johnston said he would be returned, but that he was not a material witness in the present trial.

A QUESTION OF PRICE.
Charles Goodman, 43 years old, 344 West Superior street, and his son, Newton, 17, were arrested last night after they were found loading a wagon with household goods from a vacant flat at 512 Cass street. The goods were valued at many times the price the Goodmans alleged they paid for them.

ARCHES

The pains in each of the above ailments are so near alike that even our best physicians often mistake the broken arch pains for rheumatic pains and prescribe accordingly. The medicine given, of course, has no effect and the patient often suffers for years before he realizes that possibly the trouble is with the arch nerves and muscles. I have seen thousands of such cases in my 32 years of experience.

If you suffer with pains in the limbs or back, come in and let me examine your arches. It may save you years of suffering. If your arches are broken I can fit you with a pair of Larson's Anatomic Sta-Right Shoes that will relieve your trouble and return your feet to health.

CABARETS' FATE UP TO COUNCIL THIS AFTERNOON

Vote on Ordinance
Doing Away with Dancing Due.

Cabarets will make their last stand at this afternoon's meeting of the city council.

Ald. John Toman, chairman of the council license committee, will call up for passage an ordinance prohibiting all dancing and entertainment, except the rendering of orchestral selections, in any place where the sale of liquor is allowed. This is the ordinance backed by the brewers' association, and has the recommendation of the license committee.

To Offer Amendments.
A few of the aldermen are not satisfied that the ordinance will do as it stands, and numerous amendments are expected to be offered before a vote is taken on the measure.

Ald. James B. Bowler, who introduced the brewers' measure, does not object to one amendment which proposes to permit vocal entertainment as well as that of the orchestral variety. If too many amendments are offered to the brewers' ordinance it was predicted yesterday that the whole question of cabaret regulation will be referred to the license committee with instructions to consider the amendments.

Ordinance Held Valid.
The city law department has upheld the validity of the brewers' measure, but Leon Hornstein, an assistant corporation counsel who prepared the ordinance, said the measure might not kill cabarets entirely. He declared that while the ordinance would prohibit cabarets and dancing in all places having a liquor license, there was nothing in the ordinance to prevent a café owner from maintaining a cabaret and dancing hall next door to the place where liquor was sold. Drinks, however, could not be served in the cabaret annex. A majority of the aldermen is known to be against cabarets and a favorable vote on their prohibition is anticipated.

Dispute Over Cab Stands.
Another scrap is expected when Ald. Henry D. Capitani, chairman of the local transportation committee, calls up several amendments to the public cab stand ordinance. These provide for twenty-three new and rearranges eight present public cab stands. There is a fight on this measure between the hotel proprietors and several of the taxi companies.

It is claimed for the amendments, however, that they will abolish all monopolies on stands in the central district. Every taxicab company and private cab owner will have an equal chance of occupying the public stands.

Mayor Thompson is not expected to veto an order, passed at last Monday's session of the council, directing the commission of health and buildings to revoke permits issued on a twenty-one story 260 feet high addition to the Blackstone hotel.

Saloons Move Upstairs
But Police Find Them
John Jennings, a saloonkeeper of 167 West Superior street, is said to have conceived the idea of moving his goods to the third floor flat above his saloon yesterday.

Detectives raided and arrested Jennings, a bartender, and thirty men, and also confiscated the drinkables. Four men and Philip Luzzo were arrested in a flat above Luzzo's saloon at 547 West Oak street. Beer and whiskey was confiscated.

Concord, N. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]
Residents of Carrurus county are so prejudiced in favor of Gaston B. Means, who is to be put on trial here tomorrow for the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, his wealthy patroness and benefactress, that they cannot be depended upon to serve on the jury which will decide his fate.

This will be the contention urged by the prosecution tomorrow when it presents a petition to Judge Cline for an order for a special panel of 150 men from another county from which to select a jury. The presentation of the petition was decided upon late tonight after a conference between the lawyers interested in the prosecution. They will urge in support of their petition that all the available lawyers in Concord have been enlisted in the cause of the defense and that public sentiment in the town is overwhelmingly in favor of Means.

Defense to Oppose Move.
It is assumed that the request for the order for the special panel, which will be made by Solicitor Haden Clement, will be bitterly opposed by the defense.

Concord tonight is crowded for the beginning of the most sensational trial in its history. Both sides as usual express the fullest confidence in the outcome. Frank S. Osborne from his home in Charlotte declared with emphasis that no delay of any kind would be sought by the defense.

"We are ready and waiting," was his terse comment. Mr. Osborne declined to outline in any way the course of the defense, but it can be said that Means will be defended on the proposition that Mrs. King accidentally killed herself, or on the other proposition that she committed suicide and that Gaston told the story of the killing "from chivalric reasons to protect an unfortunate woman's memory."

Prepared for Suicide Theory.
It is a fact that in the last two days counsel for Means has asserted that the former was the "only possible" course. Despite this assertion, which has reached the ears of Solicitor Clement, the prosecution is prepared for and would not be surprised by a defense based on the suicide supposition.

In fact, the prosecution considers that such a defense would be so "handy" that it rather expects it. It will be recalled that after Means had been held to the grand jury in September one of counsel for the defense announced positively that suicide would be his plea.

The prisoner is awaiting his ordeal of trial with seeming composure. He is said to feel the utmost confidence in vindication at the hands of the jury. His wife and child paid him a long visit in the jail here this afternoon.

Bryan, in Palpit, Attacks

William Jennings Bryan forgot for a time yesterday Chicago is going dry. The United States is in war, or the nation is preparing to observe a national war Thanksgiving day.

He preached in the morning a lay sermon in the Kenwood Evangelical church at Forty-sixth street and Greenwood avenue, and denounced the Darwinian theory of the survival of the fittest and the ascent of man from primordial protoplasm.

Hundreds were turned away unable to gain admission to the church. Mr. Bryan paid a glowing tribute to the Bible, advising objectors to produce a better book or cease their carping criticism of the Bible. He followed his sermon by an address to the Sunday school, in which he described the Bible class of 1,600 he teaches when he is at home.

Mr. Bryan spoke in the Cort theater in the afternoon and in the evening at the Sunday Evening club in the Congregational church, Wilmette. His subject for each address of the day was "The Larger Life." He leaves Chicago today, but will return to speak in Evanston Thanksgiving evening.

PURPLE PULLS BIG SURPRISE OF GRID YEAR

Defeat of Michigan Features Close of Big 10 Campaign.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

When darkness fell over the football stadium Saturday night, practically all the Big 10 college football season, there was only one game which could be called a surprise. That was the 21 to 13 victory of Northwestern over Michigan in the latter's first game as a member of the conference since 1915.

Michigan teams picked to win in west and east were given closer battles than generally expected, the result of the Purple-Wolverine game was one which every one wanted to know about.

Referee Holderess blew the final whistle.

Murphy a Miracle Man.

The game as played was all in Northwestern's favor. Needless to state the victory put a new lease of life into the Purple. Northwestern Coach Murphy accomplished more than was generally expected at the beginning of the season, but Saturday's victory made him the miracle man of football in the west.

There is no disputing that the absence of Weston and Lambert greatly weakened the Michigan team. These players were declared ineligible during the week, which forced Coach Yost to reconstruct his team. Northwestern probably would have given Michigan just as hard a fight if these men had been in the game. The Purple played football like the warriors of old and it deserves all the credit given.

Yost May Play Chicago.

Coach Yost and Athletic Director Hartman already are planning Michigan's schedule for 1918. They want to play Chicago, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. If games cannot be arranged with all of this trio, a game with Illinois is probable.

Wisconsin, as predicted, had little to show in its game with Illinois, 13 to 0. Although the Badgers lost two games to Illinois and Ohio-Wisconsin was a strong team at the close of the season, Coach Richards did well with the material at his disposal. Coach Yost is expected to be a success. Badger alumni again want to secure the services of Richards for three months next fall. Richards is connected with the south part of the state.

Badgers Run to Form.

Minnesota did what was expected by defeating Illinois, 27 to 6. The Gophers duplicated their work of a year ago when they defeated Wisconsin and Chicago in the last two games of the season. This year the Gophers won from Chicago, 23 to 0, then came right back and took Illinois into camp.

Indiana won from Purple by a larger score than was generally expected, 27 to 0. Coach Stueben got his team together in the last ten days, although two of his best players were declared ineligible. It was a poor season for both teams. Purdue not without a conference game and Indiana only one of three.

Brandy Wins for N. D.

Note Dame upheld the standard of western football by defeating Washington and Jefferson, 3 to 0. In a hard fought struggle, Brandy, who played right half, sent the Huskies to the point in the third period from place on the forty-five yard line. He was instrumental in Notre Dame's victory over the Army, making the Huskies which won the game.

Brandy defeated Dartmouth, 13 to 0, a margin which was not generally expected. The team located in Providence has played good football all year and apparently was a better team than the one from Hanover. Pennsylvania had a workout in preparation for its game with Cornell at Philadelphia on Thursday by defeating the Carlisle Indians, 25 to 0. West Virginia won from West Virginia University, 7 to 0, in a game of interest to football fans in the country where the first battles of the civil war were fought.

ILLINOI RALLY FOR HOLIDAY

Game with Camp Funston

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Bob Zuppke has a single day in which to rally the Illinois to their defeat Saturday, so they can make a stand against Camp Funston on Thanksgiving. Zuppke's men will enter the game at 10 o'clock.

The Illinois game of yesterday's game in good shape. There is a possibility that Sid Nichols, in view of his shoulder, may be replaced at quarterback. Nichols in the brief time he was at quarter played in improved form. The little fellow also showed he was a good half back by his forty-yard run through the Gophers, which was erroneously credited to Chaplin.

Zuppke's men figure their hardest job against Coach Withington's soldiers will be to stop Poty Clark, who was for the Funston eleven against Great Lakes Saturday.

STAGG VS. YOST

Noted College Coaches to Prepare Camp Evolves for Gridiron Battle Saturday.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

In spite of the collapse of the project for the resumption of football relations between Chicago and Michigan in the latter's first game as a member of the conference since 1915, Coach Stagg of the Maroons and Coach Yost of the Purple will have the chance to match their football wits. The Chicago team disbanded after the Wisconsin game, and Coach Stagg will leave this morning for Rockford to help in shaping up the team play of Eighty-sixth division officers at Camp Grant in their final week of practice for the game at Stagg field on Saturday against Camp Custer.

The Custer team, which already has built a reputation for real football ability, will have the advantage of Coach Yost's gridiron knowledge and instruction the rest of the week. The Michigan men told of his plans to help put the Custer team in shape at Saturday's game at Northwestern.

When Stagg gets to Rockford, he will be greeted by former pupils, among them Whiting, former captain, and Berger, Fritz Stueben, who won his football spurs at University High before he went to Cornell and cornered the varsity line, also is no newcomer to the "old man," who dealt tips to Shillick when the latter, in his prep school days, was an interested watcher of Midway teams.

A quartet of old time Michigan stars at Camp Custer will bring back former days for Yost when he begins his work there with the Eighty-fifth division officers, and should be able to spread the Yost gridiron gospel so well with their mates that the team which comes to this city for Saturday's big interconference game may be a real Yost machine.

BALL MAGNATES EYE

NEW ARMY RULES IN DRAWING 1918 PLANS

BY I. E. SANBORN.

An entirely new standard of value has been put on the professional baseball player in the last few weeks. No longer is he rated by his batting, fielding, or pitching records, but by his classification under the new national army draft regulations. The major league club owner who plans to contribute his bit by keeping baseball alive, even at considerable cost to himself, will do so out of sentiment and patriotism rather than as a business proposition. From a financial standpoint the majority of promoters agree it would be less expensive to close than to operate their ball parks next year.

Veterans in Demand Now.

But once they decide to continue, the first impulse naturally is to take stock of their chances of maintaining a winning team, for every owner of a franchise, particularly in the major leagues, wants to give his city the best possible in a baseball way. They are taking inventories of their stock of players to ascertain whom the government will want and when.

In framing trades to strengthen their teams the clubowners now have to consider the eligibility of a player to the army in addition to his record as an athlete, his personality and his habits. The owner who has under reservation a number of veterans too good to be drafted is quite likely to keep them whereas a couple of seconds would be the first to be selected for the second contingent of the national army when needed. In the matter of the Cubs stand to lose more players than the White Sox do.

Eleven of the men who played under Manager Mitchell at different times this last season are still there. They are: Scher, Kilduff, Wortman, Driscoll, Frazier, O'Farrell, Barry, Schick, Marriott, Dillhoefer, and Elliott.

Four of the recruits obtained for next season are not married. They are: Huntington, Hollocher, Bailey, Tom Daly, the former Sox catcher who was purchased for the Cubs, was a bachelor when obtained, but has since married. Tom has been a bachelor before he knew about the new regulations, however, so cannot be accused of choosing matrimony as a slacker's alibi.

Only Four Sox Single.

Only four members of the world's champion White Sox are single—Frazz, Jennings, Hasbrook and Jordan. Jim Scott was a bachelor when he quit the team to enter the officers' training camp in California, but has recently married. Having volunteered his services before taking a wife, he cannot be accused of trying to hide behind a wife.

Three men on the Cub roster are married, and two are bachelors. They are: Besler, Scott of the south side team, Joe Jenkins has recently responded to orders to report to his cantonment in the south.

Three Cubs in Service.

Mann, Marriott and Bailey are past or prospective Cubs who have answered the call of the nation. Word was received recently from Mann, who is athletic instructor at one of the army cantonments, that he hoped for a furlough that would enable him to rejoin the Cubs for a time in the spring, but he would be subject to immediate call, of course.

Only Eddie Cicotte and Joe Benz of the White Sox are ineligible to the national army on account of age. Eddie Zeider was the only Cub over 31 when the original call for registration was made, although Art Wilson will be 31 next month and Harry Wolter was 30 years old last July.

MATTY TO PITCH

IN 1918 SEASON

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Christy Mathewson, manager of the Reds, is coming out of his retirement as a hurler. Big Six will take the mound next season, he announced today. As his club will have to get along with six pitchers, he will keep himself in condition and be ready to go on the slab when his services are needed. The veteran hardly can be expected to take his regular turn or pitch many games, but he plans to aid as a relief hurler and pitch full games if necessary.

Matty announced his retirement as a hurler after he won his game from Mordca Brown of the Cubs in Chicago on Labor day, 1916. Since then he has not played, but has kept himself in fine condition by hurling to the batters in practice.

LARRY ST. JOHN

Now what kind of a bu-u-u-r-r-d is this?

Answer: A whistling swan.

It was shot a few days ago down on the Illinois river. Incidentally, it is unlawful to shoot these birds, but the hunter mistook it for a snow goose—an excuse that won't go if the warden catches you. No goose goes to this size—seven feet from tip to tip, weight twenty-four pounds—and besides the snow geese have red feet and bills.

No doubt many readers own old Kraus or Springfield that are not working. If so, why not help your country by loaning them to the State Council of Defense for drilling home guards? They will be well taken care of and returned in good condition. If you have such a shootin' iron notify Gen. Edward C. Young, 120 West Adams street.

Just because the weather has been warm and springlike don't think that ducks and geese have not been shot. Many mallards are reported to be feeding in the fields in southern Wisconsin and along the Illinois river, and Chicago hunters have been making some big kills.

Qual hunting in central Illinois is reported to be poor this season, but further south some nice sport has been found, the birds being fairly plentiful there.

So far we have heard nothing but unfavorable reports regarding rabbits. They certainly are scarcer in northern Illinois than they have been in many seasons.

Duck hunters shooting at Grass lake on week days have been getting quite a number of ducks. We can give you the start. Lettman added a second goal ten minutes later. Teale then counted for Harvey with a low drive. After this Braun scored for the home team a penalty kick, but before half time he handled the ball and Teale counted on a penalty. Schallkopf and Schwarzkopf made goals for the home team in the second period. Lineup:

Bohemians: 5; Harvey: 2.

Bohemian Americans went into a tie for third place with Lincoln Park by defeating Harvey, 5 to 2, at Forty-fifth street and Kedzie avenue, before a crowd of about 1,000.

Harvey played hard, but found the home defense strong. Herron started the scoring for the Bohemian Americans, netting the Cards, while the President gained consistently for the Cards. Lettman added a second goal ten minutes later. Teale then counted for Harvey with a low drive. After this Braun scored for the home team a penalty kick, but before half time he handled the ball and Teale counted on a penalty. Schallkopf and Schwarzkopf made goals for the home team in the second period. Lineup:

Bohemian Americans defeated Scottish-Americans, 5 to 2, in a scrappy contest on a rainy field at Forty-second and Chicago avenues. The Scottish-Americans won short series of their regulars and the speedy Swedes had the better of the play in the second half. Columbian defeated Washington Park, 1 to 0, in one of the best games of the season in the second division. McCarthy scored the winning goal in the last minute of play by a low drive from thirty yards out. Goals counted once in the first half. Other results were:

BUY less; cook no more than necessary; serve smaller portions.

Why Handkerchiefs Are Preferred for Gifts

THE intimate touch that the discriminating giver likes to bestow with his gift is most perfectly contained in a Handkerchief, marked with the recipient's initials or "autograph." It is the gift that may be mailed most easily, selected with the least time and effort and bestowed with most satisfaction to both giver and receiver.

Handkerchiefs are priced from 25c up to $5 and $6.
First Floor, Middle, State.

The Romance of the Glove

SINCE the days when Gloves were made of silk, richly embroidered with silken threads and jewels, and adorned the hands of bishops—from then until now is a far reach. It passes over the day when with a heavy gauntlet, flung to the ground, a gallant challenged another for the love of his chosen lady, to the time of the dainty silk mitts which the languishing fair one wore while fingering the harp.

AND so to the perfections in Glove making that are sent from France now to give pleasure to the American woman. Between are the many eras and periods, each equally interesting with the others. The fact remains that Gloves carry more of sentiment, of romance, than any gift selection possible to find.

Here in this Section are ample assortments of all types and kinds of Gloves, priced from $2.25 to $7.
First Floor, South, State.

BOARD NAMED TO STUDY COSTS AND FIX MILK PRICES

Inquiry, Open to All, Will Cover Every Phase of Problem.

Harry A. Wheeler, Illinois food administrator, yesterday announced the formation of a new milk commission which will make an investigation of all phases of Chicago's milk supply. Upon the findings of this commission will be based the price Chicagoans will pay for milk the first six months of 1918 and the wholesale price to be paid the producer.

The members of the commission are: Attorney John S. Miller, chairman, W. J. Hill, Crystal Lake, Ill., secretary of the Milk Producers' association and spokesman for the dairy interests.

John J. Fitzpatrick, manager for Borden's Farm Products company, representing the dealers.

John Harris, Elkhorn, Wis., president of the Wisconsin Butter and Cheese company, representing the processors.

Bernard Davenport, dean of the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois.

P. G. Holden, farm adviser for the International Harvester company and head of the company's educational department.

Mrs. Edward P. Wells, Hinsdale, representing the women's organizations.

John W. O'Leary, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Lucius Teter, president of the Illinois Welfare society.

An Advisory Board.

Acting as an advisory capacity to the commission and enjoying all the functions of the commission except that of voting, will be ex-officio members representing the following:

The city of Chicago.
State Attorney Maday Horne.
Federal Department of Justice.
The council of defense.
Chicago Federation of Labor.

"While not voting," said Mr. Wheeler, "the ex-officio members will be the right to interrogate all witnesses, and to suggest witnesses to be called."

The ex-officio members have not been named. It is thought likely that Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson will represent the city.

Organize Tomorrow.

The meeting for organization will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in the office of Administrator Wheeler on the seventh floor of the Conway building. One week will be given over to perfecting the organization and determining the scope of the inquiry.

The first public hearing will start on Dec. 1 in the large assembly room on the seventh floor of the Conway building. It is planned that the sessions shall continue daily from that day until the final report is ready.

"These hearings," explained Administrator Wheeler, "are to be open to the public and the press. At no time during the taking of evidence will the doors be closed. In so far as the capacity of the place will permit any citizen is entitled to hear the evidence."

"It is desired by the food administrator that the press announce that all who desire to be heard as witnesses who may not be summoned by the commission file their application with the office of the food administrator, stating the subject they wish to testify about, the time their testimony probably will consume, and the particular day, between the 2d and the 20th of December, they would prefer to be called."

Open to Everybody.

"The doors are open to everybody, to all interests involved, and particularly to any milk association that desires to send delegates and witnesses, as well as any society or societies that desire to be heard on behalf of the consumers, or any interested interests."

"This plan of going to the bottom of the whole milk question was agreed to by the milk producers themselves. What the commission will endeavor to ascertain will be the actual cost of milk production to the dairymen and the actual cost of distribution on the part of the dealers. This opens up every phase of the problem, the cost of feed, the cost of maintenance, including labor, the marketing and the delivering, together with the conditions under which the delivery is made to the consumer."

Under the broad scope of the inquiry the grain farmers will be called in to determine the remuneration from sugar cane farming, compared to the income from dairying, and then the actual cost of feed to the dairymen.

Covers All Seasons.

"The commission will have a period of eight months upon which to strike an average. This includes the months of November and December of this year and the first half of the next year, which embraces both the dry feeding period of the winter, when the cost reaches the maximum, and the grass feeding of the summer, when the cost reaches the minimum."

A similar commission is to be named in New York to make the survey into milk production and milk prices in the eastern section of the country."

In response to a question, Administrator Wheeler declared that the presence of Murray bears no relation whatever to the indictments now pending in Cook county against the milk producers of this section.

Former Gov. Charles A. Deneen will appear before the commission as a speaker for the dairymen and the processors.

"HERE COMES THE BRIDE"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

WE have been reading of late of the piteous virgin who, visiting the seafaring cabaret, emerges therefrom her girlish awkward, her hair at a ribald angle. Grievous as is her plight, she assumes at once for us an added interest. A trifle soiled in reputation, she is yet, after a fashion, and in a subject for observation and the news papers. Though less respectable, she is decidedly more interesting, and we pay her an attention withheld from her in her decent state.

That, as Mr. Ditchstein and others have learned recently, is the experience of the Drama. Innocently falling into the hands of the expeditious farce-makers, she enjoys a lively desecration and passes from a state of neglect to one of consideration. It doffs the rags of indigent virtue and dons the silken robes of improbity. Last evening at the Colonial "Here Comes the Bride," a raffish young fellow, followed upon the tight skirts and clicking boot heels of "Parlor, Bedroom, and Bath," and gave promise of being equally prosperous.

It is not, however, to be supposed that this dramatic flapper is shameless. On the contrary, it behaves pretty well, and is just a little fast. To be seen in it is the kittenish Miss Francine Larimore, as usual an neptis, as the saying is, and compromised by remaining alone and overnight in the same house with the pictorial Mr. Otto Kruger. Accompanying this fertile circumstance are a number of slyly suggestive remarks bearing upon propagation of the human race, but nothing to incriminate the cheek of the cleanly Sunday nighter to whom all things are pure.

The services were so successful that two curtain speeches had to be made—one by Mr. Kruger, who with delightful brevity said "Thank you!" and the other by Miss Larimore in an equally sententious "Hello, everybody!"

Mr. Kruger, than whom few farceurs are handsomer or more alacritous, is a struggling barholder of New York City whose betrothal is broken off by his sweetheart's father on the ground that he is penniless. In the midst of his humiliation and despair he is tempted by George Parsons, a satanic brother at the bar, to marry a withered heiress for a reward of $100,000. No sooner have the comic nuptials been performed than Miss Larimore, flushed and eager, rushes in to tell him that she has money enough for two and that she is ready for a honeymoon. With which crisis the first act ends. The lovers meet, coincidentally, a while later in the vacant mansion of a common friend and stay the night, blameless.

The routine and prolific doors of farce open and slam with humorous regularity, and many are the storms and frenzies that happen in the act. Prominent in the upper is Miss Maude Eburne as the battered bride, giving unexpected values to the venerable expedient of deafness—the kind which misunderstands the conversation and makes side splitting rejoinders. Also good is William Holden in a sonorous and witty impersonation of Miss Larimore's cruel dad. The actors, indeed, are all skilled as well as too numerous to mention.

Miss Larimore, as is her popular custom, is nice and pink and cuddly, and much less mannered than she was in "Fate and Warner," with fewer resemblances to Miss Madge Kennedy, whom she used to emulate or who used to emulate her. She and Mr. Kruger are quite sane in the few sentimental interludes which interrupt the general bedlam. Mr. Parsons twinkles quietly, as is his wont, and there is an interesting flash or two of Miss Jean Shady as a lady Spaniard whose uses in the play were unluckily lost by me in a moment of inattention. "Here Comes the Bride" functions as an airy little circus, framed up for the sophisticated.

FOUR TOURISTS IN AUTO KILLED NEAR CHICAGO

3 Others Hurt at Gibson, Ind., by Train; None Identified.

Two men and two women were instantly killed last night and three other persons were injured when an automobile in which three of the dead were struck by a Michigan Central train at Gibson, Ind.

The three injured persons were removed to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond. The bodies of the dead were removed to a morgue there and the police immediately began an investigation to identify them.

Came From Distance?

It was thought they had driven from a distance. There were no marks of identification about their clothing.

The accident was witnessed by William Dutton, a chauffeur, who had halted his car to wait for the train to pass. He said the other car sped past him and was struck squarely by the engine.

Durand Car Hits Woman.

Mrs. Leo Ernst of 2340 Lincoln Park west was run down and seriously hurt last night in Lincoln park by the automobile of Scott S. Durand of Lake Street. Mr. Durand was in the car. It was driven by his chauffeur, William Ross.

The accident occurred near Stockton drive and Fullerton parkway. Mr. and Mrs. Ernst, out for a walk, were crossing the drive when the Durand car bore down upon them. It was said that Mrs. Ernst slipped.

Mr. Durand helped her into his car and drove to the Columbus Memorial hospital near by. Mrs. Ernst was unconscious and was found to be suffering from a severe scalp wound. Mr. Durand reported the accident and then proceeded to his home.

Autos Collide.

The machines driven by F. E. Parker of 2506 Lake View avenue and Solomon Cadiz, a chauffeur employed by Attorney Thomas D. Knight of 5052 Drexel boulevard collided at Michigan avenue and Madison street. Both men were thrown from their seats, but were unhurt.

WAR INCREASES COLLECTION OF "PETER'S PENCE"

War conditions have increased the Peter's Pence offering in the churches of the Catholic archdiocese, according to unofficial reports yesterday after the offering had been taken. Money will be coming in all week, it was said, and hence definite results will not be known for some time. The offering last year was nearly $65,000, the largest ever made by this archdiocese and the largest made by any archdiocese or diocese last year.

"Our offering at Presentation church," said Father Jennings, the pastor, was $45 today and $55 last year, an increase of $10. We have 142 of our men in the war, for whom we will say a high mass and sermon on Thanksgiving day."

The Rt. Rev. Mons. E. A. Kelley, pastor of St. Anne's church, said he had not yet counted the money, but had noted the pile of envelopes containing gifts.

"It looks good to me, judging from the number of the envelopes," he said. "More money will come in during the week."

"A little better than last year," replied the Rev. T. F. O'Garra, pastor of Corpus Christi church, when asked about the offering.

Have Sympathy as Well as Efficiency, Nurses Told

Chicago nurses were warned not to imitate Germany in an address last evening at the Second Presbyterian church by the Rev. Charles F. Walsh.

"Do not imitate Germany," he said, "by sacrificing to efficiency the finer qualities of the heart."

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

PNEUMONIA

It's Contagious; Rules Established by Health Department.

PRECAUTIONARY measures against pneumonia will be put into effect Dec. 1 by Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson, according to an announcement made yesterday in the weekly health bulletin.

Chicago's pneumonia death rate in 1916 was the lowest in nineteen years and it is desired to reduce it further. Better ventilation is urged in shop, factory, and home. Nothing can take the place of fresh air for work, pleasure, or sleep, the bulletin states.

A special warning on pneumonia reads as follows:

"Pneumonia is a contagious disease and under the city ordinance must be reported to the department of health."

"Beginning Dec. 1 the commissioner of health will placard all reported cases of pneumonia."

"The patient will be isolated in one room."

"Visitors will not be allowed in the sick room."

"Milk bottles must not be taken into the patient's room."

"Persons sick with pneumonia must not be moved, except with consent of the commissioner of health."

Another warning to "boil the water" was issued.

"Because of the violent storm from Thursday to Friday," it reads, "all drinking water should be boiled until further notice."

A decrease was noted yesterday when only thirty new cases of diphtheria were reported.

DOCTORS TO HEAR CHARGE AGAINST DR. R. C. MENZIES

There will be an added feature on the program of the Chicago Medical society at its meeting next Wednesday night. This will be the presentation of affidavits against Dr. R. C. Menzies, superintendent of the Sheridan Park hospital, by Dr. W. H. Taylor, city physician at the Town Hall police station.

Taylor will charge that Dr. Menzies refused Saturday night to take into the Sheridan Park hospital James Richards, 74 years old, of 3718 Spaulding avenue, while the aged man was suffering from a fractured skull and near death from being struck by a street car. Dr. Taylor will back up his charges with affidavits by himself and two policemen. He will ask the medical society to take action against Dr. Menzies.

Richards, struck by a car at Belmont avenue and Halsted street, was sent to the Sheridan Park hospital. Dr. Taylor and the policemen hurried to the hospital and say they found Richards lying on the doorstep, and that he had received no attention, despite a fractured skull. When they inquired as to the reason for this Dr. Menzies is alleged to have said:

"We've always lost money on these cases. I won't take this man in."

The victim was taken later to the Alexian Brothers' hospital. Richards was still unconscious late last night and it was thought he would die.

In the meantime Capt. J. D. McCarthy of the Town Hall station declared he will call Dr. Menzies into his office for an explanation. "I see no reason why he should not be charged with negligence contributing to Richards' death, in case the old man dies. If he does die I shall try to press such a charge," he said.

Matters were explained to Dr. Menzies. "The hospital will make a very careful investigation of this case," he said. He was questioned, but steadily refused to add more.

NAMED

Illinois Politicians Figure in Bundy Confession of Vote Buying.

D. R. L. N. BUNDY, Negro dentist-politician of East St. Louis, in his 20,000 word confession of Negro vote purchasing and the levying of tribute on East St. Louis diverskeepers by politicians and officials, mentioned the names of many persons well known in Illinois politics.

Those named and a summary of Bundy's charges against them are: G. Locke Tarleton, president of the East St. Louis levee board and chairman of the St. Clair county Democratic central committee, boss of East St. Louis, purchaser of Negro votes and acceptor of bribes from diverskeepers.

Mayor Fred Molman of East St. Louis, creature of Tarleton, who was the real mayor.

John L. Flannigan, attorney and former state representative, beneficiary of Bundy's purchased Negro votes in Brooklyn, Ill.

Edward H. Green, former Negro legislator, writer of Negro colonization letter which led to arrest of Bundy in Chicago in 1916.

Kansans Payne, former chief of police of East St. Louis, threatened saloonkeepers with loss of license if they refused to support Mayor Molman.

Robert M. Smith, legislative candidate, named as the signer of a check for $150, the money from which was used for Flannigan.

Secretary Miller of the Republican St. Clair county committee gave Bundy Smith check for $150 and permitted Bundy to work for Democratic candidates for levee commissioners.

Unidentified Chicago politician (the Rev. A. J. Carey), the man who saved Bundy from State's Attorney Hoyne when Bundy was arrested in 1916.

Names Chicago Negro.

Bundy said his arrest in Chicago resulted from a letter he had received from Edward H. Green, former Chicago member of the legislature from the First senatorial district. Green occupied a desk in the western headquarters of the Republican national committee in Chicago and was driven from there when the nature of the letter became known.

He said he was held three days by Prosecutor Hoyne. Later he said that Tarleton had tipped the Cook county prosecutor off in order to put one over on the Republican leaders. He added that Tarleton later gave Bundy $100 for "Chicago expenses and hurt feelings."

Bundy said that Tarleton told him he (Tarleton) was running the town and would make a real politician out of Bundy. Bundy said he then got his club together and declared for John Dill Robertson.

He said that Molman promised the Negroes a fine fire department in the Negro section of the city and agreed to place members of the race upon the police force.

It was also Tarleton's idea, according to Bundy, to close the saloons on Sunday and shut down the doors of the dives to blind the church people. "The 4-state will go dry," Bundy said the saloons later were closed on Sunday and Tarleton went away, leaving the mayor to face the enraged saloon and dive keepers.

U. S. AND STATE PLAN TO PUNISH BUYERS OF VOTES

The Rev. A. J. Carey Admits He Set Bundy Free.

Federal and state prosecutions loomed yesterday as the result of the sensational Negro vote buying disclosures made by Dr. L. N. Bundy, Negro dentist-politician, in his 20,000 word confession made to Attorney General H. J. Brundage in Belleville Saturday night.

Bundy, in a signed statement, unreservedly confessed that he had been paid money by various politicians to deliver the Negro voters at the polls. He declared that he had made good on his contracts and named alleged co-conspirators and beneficiaries. He also gave alleged facts concerning the inner workings of a well organized vice ring in East St. Louis.

Two Inquiries Started.

Attorney General Brundage in Springfield said that he would direct a searching investigation and lay resulting evidence before the grand jury in Belleville. United States District Attorney Charles A. Karch in East St. Louis also took cognizance of the revelations made by the Negro politician and said he would order an inquiry and urge federal indictments if evidence warranted such action.

In the confession Bundy names Mayor Fred Molman of East St. Louis, G. Locke Tarleton, president of the East St. Louis levee board and chairman of the St. Clair Democratic county committee, John L. Flannigan, former state representative, and other well known political figures in southern Illinois as beneficiaries from the vote purchasing deals.

Pastor Admits Aiding Bundy.

Bundy, it was learned yesterday, also told of an unidentified Chicago Negro minister who saved him from the clutches of State's Attorney Hoyne when the latter caused Bundy's arrest in 1916 on a charge of colonizing Negro voters in southern Illinois.

The Rev. Archibald J. Carey, pastor and politician, stated yesterday that he was the man meant by Mr. Bundy. He also stated he was associated with Bundy's campaign work during the fall of 1916. Mr. Carey occupies the position of caretaker of the library in Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Eitelson's office and in addition serves as pastor of the Institutional A. M. E. church.

Carey Tells His Story.

The Rev. Mr. Carey talked freely of his friendship for Bundy and his efforts to obtain his release from Mr. Hoyne's custody. He was not successful until four days had elapsed.

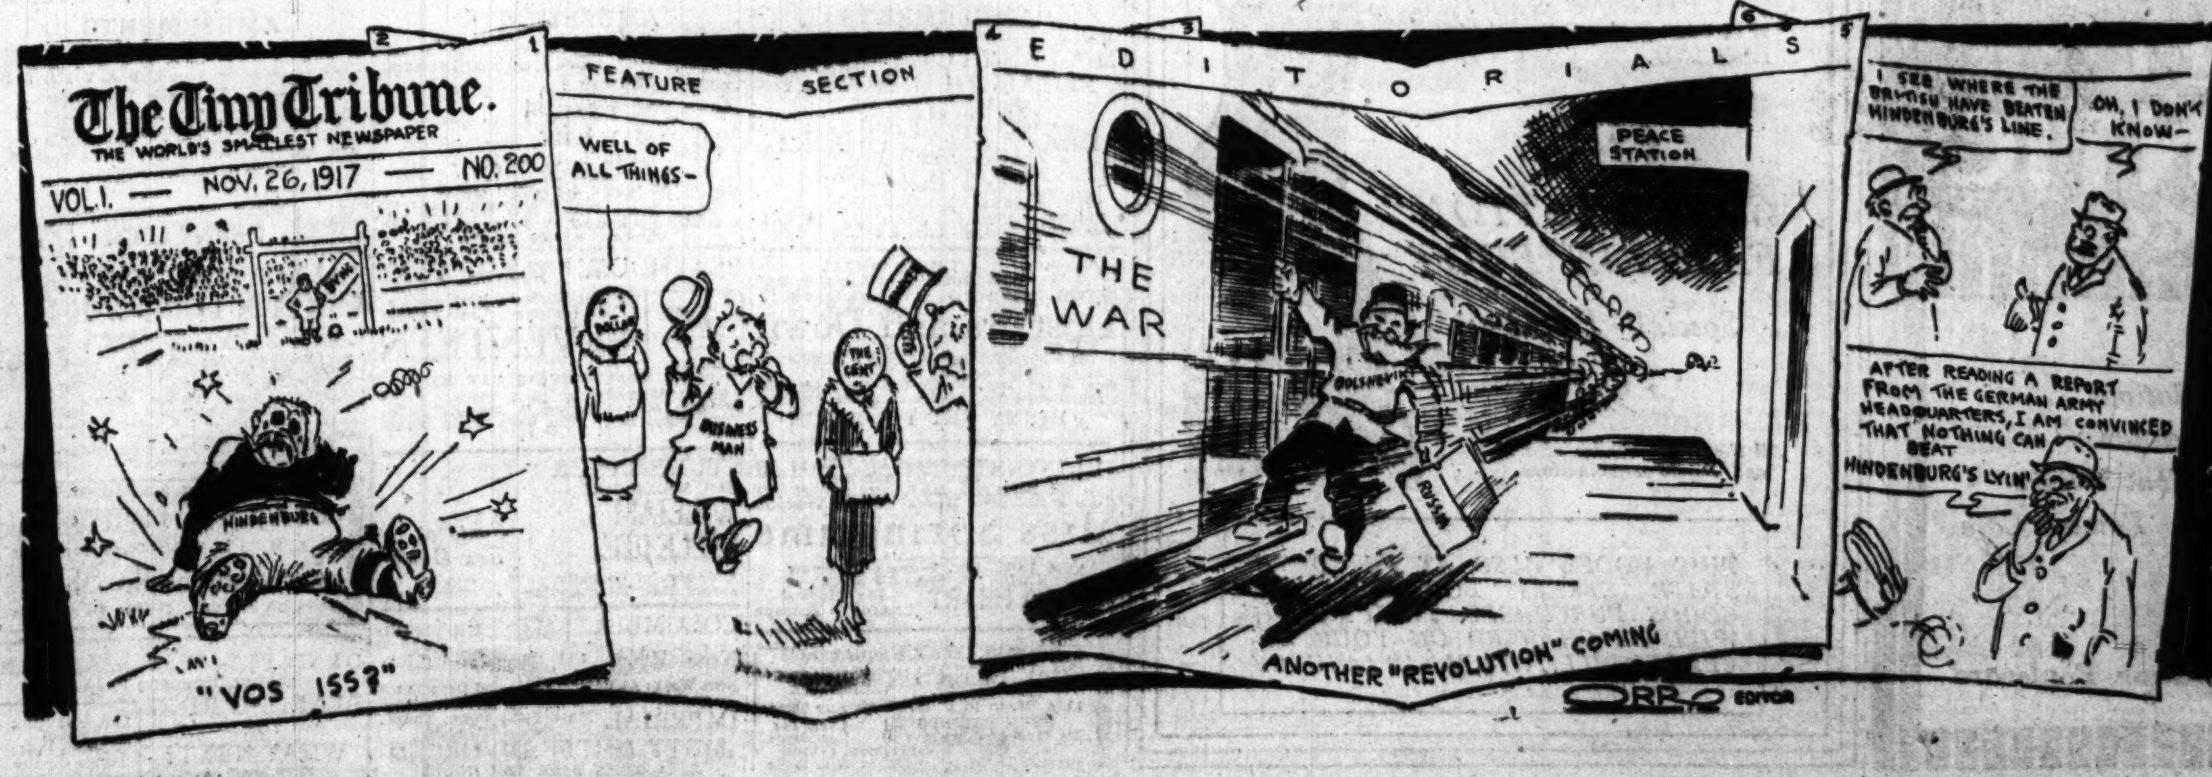

"I did not go personally to Mr. Hoyne to effect the release of Mr. Bundy when he was arrested," Carey said. "Mr. Bundy was to have been my guest while in the city on that trip. He did not arrive when expected, but I received word that he had been arrested on an incoming train and was sent to Mr. Hoyne's office, where he was detained. I immediately set in motion certain plans which finally resulted in Bundy obtaining his freedom."

Visited Southern Illinois.

Mr. Carey went on to say that he had visited southern Illinois during the campaign a year ago in the interest of the state and national Republican tickets. He was surprised to hear that Bundy had made revelations concerning traffic in Negro votes in municipal and county elections.

"I paid little attention to the local elections when I was down there," he added. "I was very busy looking after the interests of the national and gubernatorial candidates, and paid little heed to the fight for county officers down there."

Mr. Carey originally was a political follower of former Senator William Lorimer. He was one of the active agents of the Lorimer-Lincoln league in 1914 the Lorimer-Thompson politicians of the Second ward urged him to become an independent candidate for alderman. He was one of the Negro leaders who delivered the Chicago "black belt" to Mr. Thompson in his mayoralty contest, and was one of the first Negroes to be rewarded with a city hall job by the present mayor.

North Side Girl's Initials on Shell for Palestine Turks

A very, very dashing American officer now on Gen. Pershing's staff asked on this question a while ago: "What comes to your mind when you think of the highest type of man you've ever seen—physically fit, mentally alert, and a keen sense of honor, a high sense of sportsmanship, and bravery to match?"

While I was busy thinking of something extra special to say about our American men, the officer answered his own question.

"It's a young English officer," he said, and I think I was half right.

Anyway I agreed with him while I was reading a charming letter the other day from a young British artillery officer in Palestine to a girl he likes on the north side.

"I stopped writing a minute ago," he wrote, "to telegraph your best wishes to the Turks. I sent them over three big shells from you marked with your initials from my battery."

Thus one can be a very soft eyed young person, indeed, living rather peacefully on the north side, and kill a few Turks in this many-sided war on the road to Jerusalem.

A Canadian officer recently here in town was the bearer of an epigram delivered over by one of the Hun officers taken in the early fall fighting. It was as to what the nations are all fighting for.

"The English," said the German, "are fighting for honor, the French are fighting for their country—and the Canadians are fighting for souvenirs."

Women Act on Law of Birth Registration

The woman's committee is considering the problem of enforcement of the laws regarding birth registration and the general outline for the work of the committee which will be sent out from Mrs. Bowen's office today includes the following paragraph dealing with this matter:

"We feel that the care of babies and children and the people is primarily the task of women; that we ought to know whether the law requiring birth registration is being enforced; how many babies are being born without adequate care; whether the children of the poor are being insufficiently fed and therefore suffering from malnutrition; how many children are kept from school for lack of shoes and clothing; and whether children are being taken out of school as soon as they have reached 14 years in order that they may be put to work, etc. The best way to support the following of our country in this war is by keeping the families of those who are left behind strong, healthy, and contented. Hunger and cold in the home are not good backing for the men at the front."

Plan 'Adoption' of Belgian Prisoners

At an entertainment and tea given by the Playgoers' club in the Hotel La Salle last night, Mrs. Mary Reid Cory of New York gave a brief address on the organization of field work started by the United States commission for the relief of Belgian prisoners held in German camps.

"It is the plan of the commission," Mrs. Cory said, "for each member to adopt a prisoner for six months. Each member must send to the one he or she adopts two boxes each month containing ration and soldiers' equipment. Each box costs about $15.00.

"There are 40,000 prisoners that need adoption now, and the only way they can get relief is through this country."

Mrs. Cory is an executive field organizer of the commission in Illinois. Mrs. Samuel S. Hutchinson is chairman. It is planned to divide the city into three divisions, each with a chairman, through these divisions whose duties it will be to raise funds and get members.

JOSEPH SANTLEY

MR. STRACCIARI, AS RIGOLETTO, IS GOOD COMPANY FOR GALLI-CURCI

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

Riccardo Stracciari joined Galli-Curci yesterday at the Opera in a felicitous attempt to put back into "Rigoletto" the balance which has been out of pretty nearly all American performances in recent years. Their notion happened to be Verdi's—that is, the opera, than "The Poet's Revenge," which made a good job of their transcription of Hugo's fine thriller; and "Rigoletto" when given in the opera, is better Hugo, in the argot of the opera, than "The Poet's Revenge," which the major and minor tragedians of a generation kept well to the top in their repertoire. Campanini's about Ruffo's, fresh as the memory of the opera, and one of the best demonstrations of the opera-stage. Ruffo's Rigoletto is not in alignment: it was smashing, unforgettable, an uncommon example of composition, submitted by

None of Verdi is so bad as the receding of Ruffo's, fresh as the memory of the opera, and one of the best demonstrations of the opera-stage. Ruffo's Rigoletto is not in alignment: it was smashing, unforgettable, an uncommon example of composition, submitted by

And, as has been intimated, it was a good revival in other ways, from Stracciari's solid, sane direction of the orchestra to the singing by the chorus, with Nadai, improved beyond belief, for the Duke, with all the art, and even half so well as in his debut.

Miss Fitzu, Saturday afternoon, came through with more facility as Marguerite than she had, in her first appearance, as Tosca, although she never provided Murauro with a reason for extending himself. "Faust" was still his, as it has been in every performance in which he has been cast here; no Marguerite save Faust's has shared interest with him. Miss Fitzu was conventional, careful, eager, urgent, and nice to see; and she sang in the duet in the second act with unexpected vigor of tone and phrasing.

The "pop" "Carmen" at night, without major celebrities, had good points. Some of them gave it merit above the "big" performances of the last two years. Thus, the quintet was sung with at least four voices capable of singing it well, and with a fifth, Clara, who did not show up Bize's gorgeous patter. Nicolay, as usual, was the big smugger, in which he is without successful rival; but there was a new and able singer and actor for the little one in Dina. The girls, too, were new—Swartz and Pruzan; and they did more by Mercedes and Frasquita than any predecessors they have had in a long time. Clara made Carmen a rough-neck, suggesting Maria Gay's not a popular notion of the part, and put a lot of good acting into it, although her singing was so-so. Dalmores, making his return, was Don Jose, and about as when he last had the role here. Dufurane, whose voice is back in its richness and power, repeated his familiar Macmillan.

FOOD BODY COST

Hoover Shows Receipts of 51 Millions in October.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—In a report prepared for congress Herbert Hoover, federal food administrator, states that he expended for the month of October $99,805. The volume of supplies contracted for during that period aggregated $38,987. While the total expenditures for the administration of the food control act for October do not appear to be excessive, it must be remembered that many of those working for Mr. Hoover receive no pay for the government.

According to Mr. Hoover's statement, the grain corporation received from the sale of its capital stock during October $10,000,000, from grain sales $40,438,542, from guaranteed and operating expenses fund $59,462, and from reserves for market insurance $47,884, making total receipts amounting to $151,075,888.

Wheat Deliveries Grow.
Country deliveries of wheat, Mr. Hoover points out, show a large increase over those for the month of September.

"An analysis, based on previous years' percentages," he says, "indicates that the normal percentage of this year's crop has left the farm. A large part of the wheat is being directed from the point of origin to the mill, thus eliminating the transportation burden caused by shipment to the terminals and reshipment from there to the mill."

"The price of flour is generally, at the mills, fairly reflecting the wheat price, and the wholesale and retail prices are rapidly adjusting themselves to the stabilized wheat price."

Wheat Plan Popular.
Illinois Food Administrator Harry A. Wheeler's system of control of the prices of food in Chicago and other parts of the state is being put into operation throughout the country.

The plan calls for establishing fair prices for foods after conferences between the administrator and leading reputable retail dealers, who submit their operating costs to enable the administrator to determine a margin of reasonable profit. The prices so established are published daily so that consumers may know the fair price and refuse to pay more. Retailers who charge higher prices are liable to have their supplies shut off by wholesalers at the direction of the food administrator.

Demands for immediate institution of the Wheeler plan have come from numerous cities. In Philadelphia the food administrator has been subjected to a storm of criticism because he refused to establish the price control system while Thanksgiving turkeys were going to 45 cents a pound.

WAR BARES FLAW
IN IMMIGRATION LAWS, IS CHARGE

Prof. Graham Taylor, head of the Chicago Commons and of the School of Civics and Philanthropy, addressed the current events class of the First Congregational church in Evanston yesterday afternoon.

Never before has the question of immigration been so forcibly brought home to the American people, he said, as upon the occasion of the first draft.

"Some of the conditions exposed at that time were appalling," declared the speaker. "It is a wonder that we have not paid seriously for our indifference to this question. We have not even treated our immigrants decently. I believe that we should not allow them to stay here unless they become American citizens. Many aliens did not know that they could get into our national army and some never heard of naturalization."

CHICAGO BANKS
SUFFER BY U. S.
TREASURY RULEWould Benefit by Holding
Payments on Liberty
Loans.

It would seem that the treasury department might be able to devise a plan which would cause a wider distribution and longer retention among the banks of the country of the proceeds of Liberty loan sales. To date, a great portion of the funds raised, amounting now to possibly $4,000,000, has found its way to New York, where money is in great abundance. The plan of the treasury department for making banks in different parts of the country depositaries retained in relatively large amounts of Liberty loan payments remaining in the west, where the subscriptions were made, than in the east of the country. The treasury department's plan is to have the funds remain longer if the treasury could make a working arrangement for leaving deposits in the several banks until payments for purchases were made in each particular district and then having checks drawn against the depository banks, rather than having the funds sent first to New York, to be checked against there.

Might Favor Chicago.
The seventh federal reserve bank district, which includes Chicago and a large manufacturing area, might be treated as a separate entity in the matter of making payments for grain, provisions, and manufactures purchased in Chicago. It does not readily appear why Chicago banks should not retain the Liberty loan funds until needed to make payments for the goods produced in this reserve district. There may be some reason for the treasury department's practice to the contrary, but it does not appear to have been satisfactorily stated.

Bad News Ignored.
The course of prices in the New York market in the last week seems to have demonstrated a reversal of sentiment with reference to securities values. What might two weeks ago have been construed as unfavorable news was given no particular heed in the last week. For six weeks prior to early in November good news counted for nothing in the market. Now favorable developments are made the basis of advances, while unfavorable events are passed over.

Money in Abundance.
Money conditions and rates continue to be of a favorable character. Call loans in New York loaned freely at 1 per cent. Time money was offered in moderate abundance and certain large New York institutions found profitable avenues for employment of funds that they began bidding for corporation accounts by offering to pay 3 per cent on balances. In Chicago the average rate is 2 per cent. When commercial banks or trust companies find it remunerative to pay 1 per cent on active accounts, there must be highly favorable credit conditions obtaining.

Several Chicago banks that were requested to meet the 3 per cent rate on balances declined to do so. It is not known to what extent changes were made, but conditions in the west do not offer the same field for ready investment of surplus funds that hold in New York, the primary source of new floatations and at the present time fine offerings of notes and bills. With long term bonds out of the question, corporations wishing to borrow must usually resort to term notes returning generally about 6 per cent.

Chicago Market Recovers.
The Chicago stock market showed generally good recoveries and more stability in values. The issues which lost so heavily in price have recovered 8 to 10 points, and commission houses, as well as investors and speculators, are no longer fearful that any purchase made will immediately show a loss. For weeks this latter was true with money was discouraged, and with such discouragement prices fell lower and lower.

The Tribune Investors' Guide

Answers to inquiries are based upon information which The Tribune believes reliable, fair, and unprejudiced, but beyond the exercise of care in securing such information The Tribune assumes no responsibility.

Inquiries made after the signature of old ones are already in the field. The new ones face severe competition and their stocks are almost purely speculative till their ability to make earnings is proved. Most of the new ones start with the handicap of a heavy organization expense paid out of capital.

Brief Answers.
J. E. T. Libertyville, Ill., and M. F. Independence, Ia.—The Invader Oil and Refining company is producing oil and paying dividends of 1 per cent a month. The stock is speculative. A Muskogee bank, in reply to a question about the backers of the company, wrote "from what we know of these gentlemen we are inclined to regard them favorably."

General Electric.
N. E.—The General Electric company earned 18.31 per cent in 1916 on its $10,000,000 of stock. It made a profit of about 11 per cent on total sales of $134,242,290. This year its business has been much larger. It is reported that orders are at the rate of $240,000,000 for the year, with big orders from the government still to come. To handle this big business the company issued $15,000,000 of three year notes last June and now is issuing $10,000,000 of two year notes on a 6.5 per cent income basis. This makes the total debt about $37,000,000. The company is also planning to issue $20,000,000 of new stock at par to present stockholders.

Hofmann-Morgan Rubber.
V. A.—The Hofmann-Morgan Rubber company has been formed with an authorized capital of $1,000,000 to manufacture a patent tire for which some advantage is claimed. There are many other new companies forming to manufacture tires, and many strong
